Michael Watson
SECRETARY OF STATE

Dear Mississippi,

Since 1904, the Mississippi Official and Statistical Register, also known as the “Blue Book,” has been published every four years following our state’s general elections. This book provides a snapshot of our state during a specific four-year period with information ranging from biographies of our elected officials, historical facts and figures, information about state agencies, and short stories highlighting everyday Mississippians.

I am taken back each time I browse through this edition because it paints a picture of the Mississippi I have always known – a strong and compassionate state with a robust spirit. We are proud to highlight so many of our resilient residents who worked tirelessly throughout the coronavirus global pandemic to keep us fed, educated, and, most importantly – safe. We applaud each of you and dedicate this publication to you as you have exemplified strength and courage in the face of immeasurable adversity.

Just as sure as the sun rises on a new day from the Mississippi Gulf Coast to the farmlands of the Mississippi Delta, we know that the dawn of our best days is yet to come. Thank you to all of you for contributing to our great state’s continued success and preparing the way for the next generation of Mississippians.

Sincerely,

Michael Watson

GENERAL INFORMATION

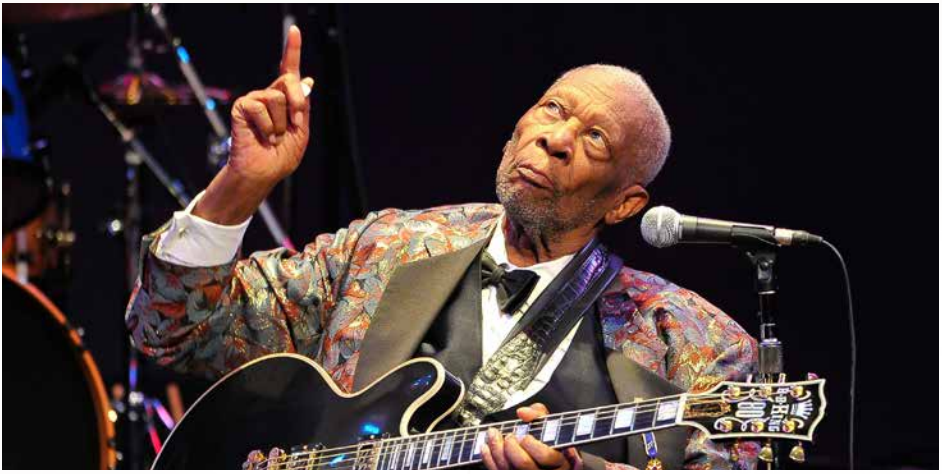
THE MISSISSIPPI WAY

MISSISSIPPI. IT'S MORE THAN A PLACE. IT'S A STATE OF MIND. A STATE OF BEING. A STATE PERSONIFIED BY THOSE WHO CALL IT HOME.

So, what is different about Mississippi's people?

We are laid-back yet forward-looking. We enjoy award-winning cuisine just as much as we enjoy a healthy helping of home cooking. From downhome to big city, our people live life to the fullest.

We are awestruck by the simple beauty of peerless sunsets over breathtaking bodies of water, whether Pickwick Lake, the Mississippi River or our glorious Gulf Coast beaches. Yet, we thrill at the complexity of rockets that will someday take humans to Mars, tested at our own Stennis Space Center. We are sports fanatics, with many of our sons and daughters listed among the greatest to ever play – from NFL legends like Walter Payton, Jerry Rice, Ray Guy, and Brett Favre to Olympic Gold Medalists like Ralph Boston, Ruthie Bolton, Brittney Reese, and Tori Bowie. Name a major sport, and we can name several legendary players from Mississippi.



We are music lovers (how could we not be, as the Birthplace of America's Music?). The King of Rock & Roll, Elvis Presley, was born here, as was the Father of Country Music, Jimmie Rogers, and Blues icons B.B. King, Howlin' Wolf, and Robert Johnson, among many others.

WE MISSISSIPPIANS ARE STORYTELLERS. WE ARE VISIONARIES. WE ARE HUMANITARIANS.

Because we've seen more than our share of adversity, the people of this great state are among the most giving in the nation, if not the world. When disaster strikes within our own boundaries, our resilience carries us through to renewal. And when it strikes elsewhere, our giving nature quickly reveals itself. More often than not, we are the first on the scene to offer food, shelter, strong backs, or welcoming shoulders to help carry the burden.

Yes, we Mississippians are hard to define. Our diversity of culture, thought, spirit, background, and vision make us that way. But, rest assured, we are what makes Mississippi what it is: our heart, our home.

As you read through each section of this book, you'll get a glimpse of who we are – a people forged from perseverance and limitless in vision.

MISSISSIPPI'S STATE FLAG

On June 20, 2020, Mississippi officially retired the 1894 state flag and replaced it with the "In God We Trust" flag voted on and approved by 73% of Mississippi voters.

Waves of Change

Since the early 2000s, rumblings of change were perpetual due to the inclusion of the Confederate symbol in the 1894 flag. A heightened push to change the flag was renewed in 2015, supported by U.S. Senators Roger Wicker and Thad Cochran, along with high-ranking state legislators, businesses, organizations, community leaders, and others, both inside and outside of Mississippi. Some universities across the state also voted to stop flying the 1894 state flag.

In 2016, more than a dozen bills supporting the change were presented to the state legislature, yet none made it out of committee. After years of lawsuits, threatened lawsuits, and hearing the voices of many citizens who wished to eliminate the stigma attached to the divisive flag, the ripple effect of desired change surged in 2020.

On June 30, 2020, Governor Tate Reeves approved House Bill 1796, under which a Commission to Redesign the Mississippi State Flag was formed and charged with finding a new state flag design no later than September 14, 2020. Stipulations in the act stated that any proposed design must include the words "In God We Trust" and must not contain the Confederate battle emblem. The bill also called for the Mississippi Department of Archives and History to develop a plan to remove the 1894 flag from public buildings across the state and provide the commission with administrative support.

On July 13, 2020, the Mississippi Department of Archives and History invited the public to submit new state flag designs. The commission received nearly 3,000 submissions! After several rounds of cuts, the commission narrowed the choices down to a final design, which was submitted for public vote as a ballot measure during the November 3, 2020, General Election. The "In God We Trust" design, featuring a magnolia flower and stars, was approved by 73% of Mississippi voters.

On January 5, 2021, the first day of the 2021 Legislative Session, the Mississippi House of Representatives voted 119-1 to pass House Bill 1 (HB 1), a bill designed to codify the new state flag into Mississippi law. The state Senate pushed the bill forward on January 6 with a 43-7 vote in favor of the new design. Governor Reeves made the historic change official by adding his signature to HB 1 on January 11, 2021.

PLEDGE TO THE MISSISSIPPI FLAG

"I salute the flag of Mississippi and the sovereign state for which it stands with pride in her history and achievements and with confidence in her future under the guidance of Almighty God."

Miss. Code Ann. § 37-13-7 (1972)

About the "In God We Trust" Flag Design

The "In God We Trust" flag layout, originally named the "New Magnolia Flag," was designed by Rocky Vaughan with support from Sue Anna Joe, Kara Giles, and Dominique Pugh (who illustrated the magnolia). Micah Whitson was also credited with adding the Native American star.

As described by the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, "The New Magnolia flag is anchored in the center field by a clean and modern Magnolia blossom, a symbol long-used to represent our state and the hospitality of our citizens. The New Magnolia also represents Mississippi's sense of hope and rebirth, as the Magnolia often blooms more than once and has a long blooming season. The New Magnolia is sleek and updated to represent the forward progression of Mississippi. The circle of twenty stars represents Mississippi as the twentieth state of the United States of America and is anchored by the gold five-point star, which stands alone. This star represents our first peoples, the indigenous Native American tribes of the land that would become Mississippi. The color blue in the main field of the flag echoes the blue of the American flag, representing vigilance, justice, perseverance, while the bands of red represent hardiness and valor. The gold lines and the gold stamen of the New Magnolia are a nod to the rich cultural history of Mississippi, specifically the visual arts, literature, music, and performing arts to originate in our state."

THE GREAT SEAL OF THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
IN GOD WE TRUST

THE GREAT SEAL OF THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

The State Seal is described in the Laws of the State of Mississippi, First Session, First General Assembly, 1817-1818: "The seal of this state, the inscription of which shall be 'the great seal of the State of Mississippi' around the margin, and in the center an eagle, with the olive branch and quiver of arrows in his claws," and has been in use since Mississippi became a state in 1817. The Great Seal was amended by an act of the 2014 Legislature to include the words "In God We Trust."

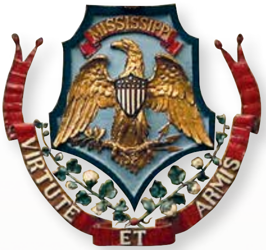
STATE LANGUAGE

English was designated the official language of the State in Chapter 439, General Laws of Mississippi 1987.

STATE MOTTO

"Virtute et Armis" – a Latin phrase which translates "By Valor and Arms" – has not been adopted by the Legislature as an official motto as such, but has appeared on the State Coat-of-Arms since 1894. It was suggested by James Rhea Preston, a former Mississippi Superintendent of Education.

The Mississippi motto supposedly has its roots and inspiration from another motto created by Lord Gray de Wilton, "Virtute Non Armis Fido," which means, "I trust in virtue, not arms."



MISSISSIPPI'S COAT-OF-ARMS

In 1894, the Legislature declared the design above as official, but upon revision of the Mississippi Code in 1906, the original law was not brought forward. In May 2000, the Supreme Court ruled Mississippi did not have an official Coat-of-Arms. Governor Ronnie Musgrove appointed a 17-member commission in order to study the issue which ultimately made the recommendation for the re-adoption of the Coat-of-Arms.

Governor Ronnie Musgrove signed Senate Bill No. 2285 into law on February 7, 2001, making the design the official Mississippi Coat-of-Arms:

> "... a shield, blue in color, with an eagle upon it with extended pinions, holding in the right talon a palm branch and bundle of arrows in the left, with the word 'Mississippi' above the eagle; the lettering on the shield and the eagle to be in gold; below the shield two (2) branches of the cotton stalk, saltier wise, and a scroll below extending upward and on each side three-fourths (3/4) of the length of the shield; upon the scroll, which is to be red, the motto to be printed in gold letters upon white spaces, the motto to be 'Virtute et Armis'; this being the same Coat-of-Arms adopted by the Legislature in Chapter 37, Laws of the Extraordinary Session of 1894."

MISSISSIPPI STATE SYMBOLS

STATE FLOWER AND TREE

An election was held in November 1900 to select a State Flower. Votes were submitted by 23,278 school children. The magnolia received 12,745 votes, the cotton blossom 4,171, and the cape jasmine 2,484. A few votes were for other flowers. The magnolia was officially designated as the State Flower by the 1952 Legislature. In 1935, the Director of Forestry started a movement to select a State Tree for Mississippi. The tree was to be nominated and elected by school children of the state.

Four nominations were made: the magnolia, oak, pine, and dogwood. The magnolia received the majority. On April 1, 1938, the Mississippi Legislature officially designated the magnolia as the State Tree in Chapter 366, Laws of Mississippi 1938.

IMPACTING OUR FUTURE GENERATIONS

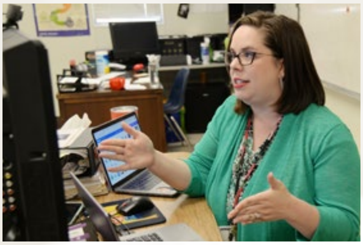
WHEN IT COMES TO EDUCATION, MISSISSIPPI IS MAKING THE GRADE. IN FACT, OUR STATE ACHIEVED THE NUMBER ONE SPOT IN THE NATION FOR GAINS ON THE 2019 NATIONAL ASSESSMENT OF EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS (NAEP), KNOWN AS THE NATION'S REPORT CARD. NUMBER ONE!

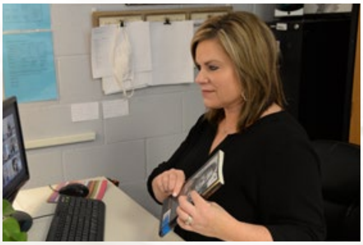
So, to say Mississippi has made incredible strides of late in improving and enhancing education may be an understatement.

Since 2016, schools and districts earning an A have more than doubled, with the number of A-rated schools jumping from 88 to 196 and A-rated districts up from 14 to 31 in 2019. Our graduation rates surpassed the national average in 2020 and reached an all-time high of 87.7% in 2021.

Workforce training continues to be a focus due to its contributions to our economy. A 2020 Mississippi Association of Community & Junior Colleges economic impact study revealed that community colleges and their students have a multi-billion-dollar impact on Mississippi's economy, generating an estimated $2.1 billion in wages and salaries, over $250 million in state and local tax revenue, and nearly $4 billion in state gross domestic product.

Also making an impact on the state is advanced research. Mississippi is home to four Carnegie Foundation-rated research universities. Jackson State University conducts research ranging from cyber security and environmental science to STEM education and data-enabled science. Research conducted at Mississippi State University includes aerospace engineering, unmanned aircraft systems, agriculture, and social sciences. The University of Mississippi conducts research in areas ranging from biomedical and pharmaceutical to public policy and wireless communication. And research at the University of Southern Mississippi includes ocean science and engineering, polymer science and engineering, and sports venue safety and security.





AN UNFORESEEN CHALLENGE

Catastrophic events are often catalysts for change. For education, the COVID-19 pandemic proved this point.

Facing a health crisis never seen in this lifetime, students and teachers had to adjust, adjust again, and adjust again. Sondra Hinton, who teaches 8th grade English and Pre-AP English at Center Hill Middle School in Olive Branch, explained it best.

“Although a great deal of apprehension and fear accompanied the rapid implementation of virtual learning, Mississippi stepped up and accepted the challenge,” said Hinton. “I have never been more proud to be a Mississippi educator.”

Quarantines forced remote learning, which meant parents had to step in and help guide their children at home. The pandemic also created an immediate need for access to more laptops and mobile devices, plus broadband internet access in rural areas. Mississippi is working to fill these gaps so our children may continue to learn, regardless of circumstances.

“One bright spot is the access to technology that will forever change the face of education in our state,” said Hinton. “We will be true 21st-century learners.”

“I was overwhelmed with pride with how my Mississippi rose to meet the challenges ... Seeing Mississippi educators take on this pandemic and refuse to let it extinguish learning is noble, commendable, and something I will never forget.”

Mississippi has 15 community colleges that provide students the opportunity to earn a quality education at an affordable cost. These community colleges administer academic programs for students that plan on transferring to a university, career and technical education programs for those looking to quickly enter the workforce, non-credit workforce training for employers and employees, and high school equivalency for students that did not graduate high school. In an average year, Mississippi's community colleges educate and train approximately 98,000 students.

The Mississippi Community College Board (MCCB) is a coordinating state agency that creates standards and guidelines for the 15 community college districts. The MCCB works alongside community college presidents and representatives to promote the system. The Board exercises its jurisdiction as outlined in Sections 37-4-1 and 37-4-3, Mississippi Code 1982, Revised 1990.

The State's community and junior college system began in 1924 when the legislature allowed agricultural high schools to include freshmen and sophomore college courses. Four years later, the schools were instructed to create junior colleges. Because of this, what is now known as the Mississippi Community College Board was established in 1928 as the Commission on Junior Colleges.

By 1931, 11 junior colleges had been established; by 1950, the total had grown to 15. In 1987, the schools were allowed to change their names to community college as a more appropriate description of their relationships with their corresponding districts.

In 1986, the Commission on Junior Colleges was replaced by the State Board for Community and Junior Colleges. The board was enacted as an independent agency. The name was changed to Mississippi Community College Board during the 2011 legislative session. The board consists of 10 governor appointed members. Two members are appointed from each of the five Congressional districts as they existed before the 2000 census.

The mission of the Mississippi Community College Board is "to advance the community college system through coordination, support, leadership, and advocacy." The board's core values are professionalism, integrity, partnerships, innovation, and diversity.

KELL SMITH

Interim Executive Director
Mississippi Community College Board

On July 16, 2021, Mr. Kell Smith was named Interim Executive Director of the Mississippi Community College Board (MCCB). Since 2008, he has also served as Director of Communications and Legislative Services for MCCB. In his roles at MCCB, he is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the agency while also handling legislative issues that pertain to the community college system, as well as handling requests from the media. His service as a leader for the State of Mississippi began in 2005 when he began working at the Secretary of State's office. He believes in working collaboratively with each of the 15 community colleges in order to advance the system and improve the lives of Mississippians.

Kell attended Mississippi State University where he earned a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science in 2003 and also earned a Masters of Public Policy and Administration in 2005. While at MSU, he was co-director of Governmental Affairs for the Student Association and served on the Student Association Housing Committee. He served as a member of the Stennis-Montgomery Association and was a Mississippi State Alumni Delegate. Kell was honored to be selected as a member of the Pi Alpha Alpha Honorary Society as well as a Dean's Scholar.

Kell serves on the Board of Directors for the College Public Relations Association of Mississippi, is a former member of the Board of Director for the Mississippi Council on Economic Education and is a graduate of the Mississippi Community College Leadership Academy.

He is married to the former Mary Straton Karatassos of Starkville. They live in Madison and are the parents of Eleanor and Rosie. He serves as a deacon of Broadmoor Baptist Church.

Alcorn State University is the oldest public historically Black land-grant institution in the United States and the second-oldest state-supported institution of higher learning in Mississippi. Alcorn University was founded in 1871 for the purpose of educating freedmen and was named in honor of the sitting governor of Mississippi, James L. Alcorn. The site was originally occupied by Oakland College, a school established by Presbyterians in 1828; the State of Mississippi purchased the Oakland campus and named it Alcorn University. Hiram R. Revels resigned his seat as a U.S. senator to become the University's first president. In 1878, Alcorn University became Alcorn Agricultural and Mechanical College. Over time, facilities increased from three historic buildings to more than 80 structures. The original purchase of 225 acres of land grew to a campus of more than 1,700 acres. In 1974, Alcorn Agricultural and Mechanical College became Alcorn State University. Today, with branch locations in Natchez and Vicksburg, Alcorn has earned nationwide recognition not only for being affordable, but also for its excellence in nursing, music, STEM, education, agriculture, and the liberal arts. The University provides an exceptional educational experience that enables students to successfully pursue their educational and professional goals. Celebrating 150 years of academic excellence, Alcorn offers bachelor's, master's, specialist, and doctoral degrees in more than 50 top-degree programs.

Jackson State University's distinguished history began in 1877 as the Natchez Seminary, a private church school set up in Natchez, Mississippi, under the auspices of the American Baptist Home Mission Society of New York. Beginning with only 20 students, the seminary educated newly freed African Americans as ministers and teachers. In 1882, the society moved the school to Jackson, Mississippi, to the location where Millsaps College now stands. The seminary was renamed Jackson College in recognition of its new location in central Mississippi. Three years later, construction began on the site that is now the University's main campus. After the turn of the 20th century, the institution began to broaden its course of study, and in 1924, the college awarded its first degree. By 1934, the American Baptist Home Mission Society had withdrawn its support for the college, which began efforts toward garnering state support for the institution. In 1940, the school reorganized its curriculum as a two-year program and changed its name to the Mississippi Negro Training School. The State Institutions of Higher Learning then expanded the curriculum to a four-year teacher education program. The first graduating class under state support received Bachelor of Science degrees in Education in May 1944; two months after, the school was renamed the Jackson College for Negro Teachers. By 1967, state support had been secured and the school was renamed Jackson State College. Through a legislative act in 1974, the College became Jackson State University (JSU). Five years later, the Institutions of Higher Learning officially designated JSU as Mississippi's Urban University.

From comprehensive educational options and groundbreaking research to award-winning service initiatives and an environment that embraces intellectual and creative freedom, the Mississippi State experience is transforming and empowering communities throughout the world. As one of the national land-grant colleges established after Congress passed the Morrill Act in 1862, the institution opened its doors in the fall of 1880 as the Agricultural and Mechanical College of the State of Mississippi. It soon distinguished itself as a leader in agriculture, horticulture, and the mechanical arts in addition to other scientific and classical studies, including military tactics. By 1932, when the legislature renamed the school Mississippi State College, it was well on its way to building the foundation for generations of students from all walks of life to succeed in higher education. In 1958, the legislature changed the name to Mississippi State University. Today, MSU stands as a Top 100 National Science Foundation research institution and Carnegie Foundation R1-Very High Research Activity university, providing access and opportunity to students from all sectors of the state, as well as from 49 states and 84 other countries. Students in eight colleges are participating in cutting-edge research with a global impact, including work to get unmanned aerial systems flying safely in the nation's airspace, designing the car of the future, and generating solutions to world hunger, among other achievements.

Dr. Mark Everett Keenum became Mississippi State University's 19th president on Jan. 5, 2009, following a distinguished public service career. He has guided his alma mater to unprecedented heights with an unwavering focus on students – preparing them for success in a rapidly changing world and instilling in them the timeless values of integrity, hard work, and respect. The university has experienced record enrollment growth — reaching a new all-time high in Fall 2020 with 22,986 students. Since July 2010, the university has raised more than $1 billion in private support, and Infinite Impact: The Campaign for Mississippi State University achieved its historic goal well ahead of schedule in June 2020. This monumental support enabled the university to reach this historic peak of philanthropy and exceed a $1 billion milestone previously never achieved by an educational institution in the state. The university has completed or initiated capital improvements totaling $1.1 billion since 2009. These projects have transformed the main campus in Starkville and MSU-Meridian. They include new student residence halls, academic classroom buildings, teaching and research laboratories, a student veterans' center, athletic venues, dining facilities, a United States presidential library, a conference and convention center, and essential infrastructure. A Carnegie Foundation R1-Very High Research Activity Doctoral University, the university's annual research and development expenditures exceeded $264 million in FY 2019. Keenum serves as chairman of the Board for International Food and Agricultural Development and the Foundation for Food and Agriculture Research, as well as chairman of the College Football Playoff Board of Managers. He is also a member of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History Board of Trustees. He began his career at MSU as a faculty member with the Extension Service and the Department of Agricultural Economics. He went on to serve as chief of staff to U.S. Senator Thad Cochran in Washington, D.C., and was Under Secretary of the U.S. Department of Agriculture prior to returning home to lead Mississippi State.

Founded: 1884

Total 2020 Budget: $56,715,886

Established in 1884, Mississippi University for Women, also known as The W, became the first public college for women in America. Originally known as the Industrial Institute and College, the institution was created by an act of the Mississippi Legislature on March 12, 1884, for the dual purposes of providing a liberal arts education and preparing women for employment. The first session began October 22, 1885, with an enrollment of approximately 250 students on a campus formerly occupied by the Columbus Female Institute, a private college founded in 1847. The name of the institution changed to Mississippi State College for Women in 1920 to reflect an emphasis on collegiate rather than vocational education. The name changed again in 1974 to Mississippi University for Women to reflect better the nature of the academic programs, including graduate studies. In 1982, the United States Supreme Court ordered the university to admit a male student to the nursing program. Following this historic decision, the Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning ordered the university to change its policies to allow the admission of qualified males into all university programs. In 1988, the Board of Trustees reaffirmed the mission of MUW as an institution of quality academic programs for all qualified students with emphasis on distinctive opportunities for women. Today, The W continues its historic focus on academic leadership development for women, as well as its long tradition of excellence in liberal arts and professional education for both women and men. The W prepares its students for a wide variety of roles both professional and personally.

Dr. Jerryl Briggs, Sr.
President
jerryl.briggs@mvsu.edu

With more than 30 years of professional experience in higher education, Dr. Jerryl Briggs was unanimously selected to become the eighth President of Mississippi Valley State University (MVSU) on October 19, 2017. Prior to being named President, Dr. Briggs served in the capacities of Acting President and as Executive Vice President/Chief Operating Officer at the University.

During his tenure as President, Dr. Briggs has prioritized campus safety and infrastructure with the completion of a $500,000 outdoor lighting project and upgrades to the University's video surveillance system. The lighting project entailed light-emitting diode (LED) retrofitting of 516 exterior light fixtures to address safety concerns, lighting quality, and energy consumption. As part of the surveillance system upgrades, a total of 346 cameras were added to the interior and exterior of University buildings.

Dr. Briggs also solidified a partnership with FedEx Logistics, a subsidiary of FedEx Corporation, to launch its Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU) Program, making MVSU the prototype as the program's first HBCU partner. The partnership included the opening of a FedEx Logistics satellite office on MVSU's campus that is staffed with MVSU students. In addition to receiving a competitive wage and valuable work experience, the students are also eligible to receive full benefits and tuition assistance while they are in school, with the potential for full-time employment upon graduation.

Dr. Briggs managed a $17 million capital improvement project for the University's athletic complex. He also oversaw the renovation of two campus residence halls with additional planning underway for renovations to other campus buildings.

In addition, Dr. Briggs has helped to re-establish the University College model, which led to successfully improving the University's retention rate by 10 percent for fall 2014 and 12 percent for fall 2015. He also worked collectively with MVSU staff to increase overall university enrollment that resulted in a more than 200 percent increase in dual enrollment students for fall 2016 and an overall 11.4 percent increase over three years.

Before joining MVSU, Dr. Briggs served as Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management at Central State University in Ohio. Prior to Central State University, he has held various positions within higher education administration, including serving for 10 years at Lincoln University (PA) as Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management, and Dean of Students. He has also held positions at Clark Atlanta University, the College of William and Mary, Georgia Institute of Technology, the University of Illinois-Urbana/Champaign, and North Central College.

He has also presented professional workshops addressing the topic "student success at HBCUs" at various speaking engagements. An avid supporter of HBCUs, Dr. Briggs says, "HBCUs are most dear to my heart. They have been a part of my life, both educationally and professionally. I deeply value our experiences, and we must assure future generations have these same experiences on our campuses."

Dr. Briggs has received several honors, including the 2015 Citizen of the Year Award from Beta Rho Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc., the Outstanding Service Award from Clark Atlanta University, and the Student Affairs Administrator of the Year Award from Lincoln University. He was appointed to the Board of Directors for the United Way of Leflore County. Previously, he served as a board member and national advisor for the Community Foundation for Financial Literacy based in Atlanta, Georgia. Dr. Briggs has also authored a chapter regarding Greek life in Brown, Parks, and Phillips African American Fraternities and Sororities: The Legacy and the Vision (2012).

Dr. Briggs earned his Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry education from Xavier University of Louisiana, his Master of Arts degree in human relations and supervision from Louisiana Tech University, and both an Educational Specialist degree in higher education administration and a doctorate in educational policy, planning and leadership from the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, VA. MILITARY

DEFENDING OUR HOMELAND

TRUE TO OUR PATRIOTISM AND INGRAINED HOSPITALITY, MISSISSIPPIANS WELCOME MILITARY FAMILIES WITH WARM HEARTS AND OPEN ARMS.

It’s a symbiotic relationship. In addition to keeping Mississippi and the nation safe, those stationed here also help support our economy and become integral parts of our communities.

Master Sergeant Dustin Weeks, USAF, is a Security Forces specialist and military working dog (MWD) handler at Columbus Air Force Base. He also coaches his 8-year-old daughter’s softball team, among many other types of community involvement, and loves being stationed in Mississippi. “I hear ‘thanks for your service’ from people anytime I’m between work and home in uniform,” said Weeks. “It’s just part of that famous Mississippi hospitality!”

With six installations across the state representing the Army, Navy and Air Force – not to mention our numerous National Guard units – Mississippi understands the importance of doing our part to keep our nation and her citizens safe and free.

> “Having been deployed in Iraq, Afghanistan and Qatar, and after training in Wyoming and San Antonio, I’ve been around a lot in my career. In other places, you don’t see the same hospitality mindset in folks. It makes me appreciate Mississippi even more.”
> Master Sergeant Dustin Weeks | USAF

"Our National Guardsmen are dedicated to keeping Mississippians safe by providing response to natural disasters and other events," said Maj. Gen. Janson D. Boyles, Mississippi National Guard's Adjutant General. "Many require mobility during a flood or hurricane, engineering support after a tornado or hurricane, logistical support for citizens, or aviation support for partner agencies within the state and at times, the nation."

Boyles added that Mississippi has deployed engineers, military police, aviators and communication support teams to neighboring states, and sent resources providing essential assets to fight wildfires across the country. The Mississippi National Guard has also provided safety and security to the National Capital Region during civil unrest and other civil disturbance events.

"The exemplary training and steadfast professionalism of our service members distinguish Mississippi as one of the premier Guard states in our nation," said Boyles. "Our formation is comprised of talented Citizen Soldiers and Airmen who possess diverse skillsets and experience that enable us to adjust quickly to the needs of our state and nation."

Whether our own National Guard or the thousands of other soldiers, sailors and airmen stationed here, Mississippi's dedication to our military and its missions is exemplary. Our state is proud to be home to so many who defend our homeland. And we extend a grateful heart to their service.

> "Your Mississippi National Guard continues to set a standard of excellence at home and around the world. We stand ready to serve the great citizens of Mississippi and answer our nation's call to service. We are always ready and always there."
> Maj. Gen. Janson D. Boyles | The Adjutant General of Mississippi

MISSISSIPPI MILITARY DEPARTMENT

The Mississippi Military Department is part of the Mississippi executive branch and is a State agency. The Adjutant General of Mississippi serves as the executive director and is only subordinate to the Commander-in-Chief, the Governor of Mississippi, in matters relating to the department and the state militia forces. The Adjutant General is a political appointee and serves at the will and pleasure of the Governor. The Adjutant General's term of office expires with the term of the Governor.

The Adjutant General of Mississippi, via the Mississippi Military Department, is expressly authorized to "issue such orders, rules and regulations as may be necessary in order that the organization, training, and discipline of the components of the militia of this state will at all times conform to the applicable requirements of the United States government relating thereto. Orders, rules, and regulations issued hereunder shall have full force and effect as part of the military code of this state." Mississippi's militia forces formally break down into three broad classes: The Mississippi National Guard (MSNG), the Mississippi State Guard (MSG), and the unorganized militia. The Mississippi National Guard and the Mississippi State Guard are considered organized militia.

The Mississippi National Guard is the most recognizable military force within our state borders. The missions of the Mississippi Army National Guard and the Mississippi Air National Guard are dual in nature. The state mission is: To provide protection of life and property, and uphold the preservation of peace, order, and public safety for the citizens of Mississippi, under the leadership and control of the Governor. The federal mission is: To serve for the common defense, under Presidential authority, in times of national emergency or war.

The Mississippi State Guard is most closely aligned with the concept of state militia. The members are volunteers, self-equipped (armed only under special circumstances, as defined in law), can only operate within the borders of the State, and are unpaid unless activated to assist or backfill the Mississippi National Guard.

The Guard has a history of service in homeland defense. The Mississippi Emergency Service Medal has been given in more than 49 different operations, including: 14 hurricanes, seven floods, five tornados, and numerous civil disturbances ranging from the textile strike in 1934 to civil strife in the 1960s.

In 1927, Mississippi Guardsmen patrolled 70 miles along the flooded Mississippi River Delta, saving, evacuating, and providing campsites for more than 30,000 evacuees.

From September 30 to October 9, 1962, President John F. Kennedy federalized the entire Mississippi National Guard in connection with the integration of the University of Mississippi.

Also, in October 1962, a large portion of the Mississippi Guard responded to a major chlorine spill at Natchez.

The state and federal missions collided for the first time during Operation Iraqi Freedom and Hurricane Katrina. With more than 3,000 Soldiers and Airmen overseas, the Mississippi National Guard led a noteworthy response in 2005 to the worst natural disaster to hit the United States.

In April 2020, the Mississippi National Guard mobilized in support of the Governor's COVID-19 State Task Force. More than 1,200 Soldiers and Airmen supported operations at all levels including personal protective equipment transportation and COVID testing and vaccinations.

The Mississippi National Guard's 47th Civil Support Team was certified in October 2006. This full-time unit's only mission is to respond to weapons of mass destruction threats within the state. They are fully equipped, fully funded, and serve under the control of the Governor.

Emergency service at home is not an easy mission. It evokes emotional involvement, requires separation from loved ones, and demands the same professionalism and courage required by the federal mission.

The Mississippi National Guard has served in the Creek War, War of 1812, Mexican War, Civil War, World Wars One and Two, Korea, Operation Desert Storm, Haiti, Bosnia-Kosovo, Somalia, Operation Noble Eagle, Operation Enduring Freedom, Operation Iraqi Freedom, and Operation New Dawn.

The Mississippi Dragoons, under Maj. Thomas Hinds, demonstrated the fighting spirit and resolve of the Mississippi Militia during the War of 1812.

The 1st Mississippi Regiment of Infantry, Mississippi Rifles, turned the tide at the Battle of Buena Vista during the Mexican War. Col. Jefferson Davis's command "STAND FAST MISSISSIPPIANS" remains the motto of the Mississippi Army National Guard's oldest unit, and the Army's sixth oldest active regiment, the 1st Battalion, 155th Infantry.

The fourth highest loss suffered by a southern regiment in a single battle was at the Battle of Shiloh during the Civil War. The 6th Mississippi Infantry lost 300 of 425 men in less than 30 minutes.

In July 1917, the entire Mississippi National Guard was called into service for World War I. Two regiments of infantry, one regiment of field artillery, nine troops of cavalry, and one company of engineers were called. The first African-American registrants were also drafted for training.

Mississippi's oldest Air National Guard unit, the 186th Air Refueling Wing in Meridian, was activated at Key Field on September 27, 1939, as the 153rd Observation Squadron. Less than 13 months later, it was ordered into active service.

The Guard was activated again for war on November 25, 1940, and served honorably on battlefields throughout Europe and the Pacific. The 31st Infantry (Dixie) Division was again called on to serve in the Korean Conflict, where almost 95 percent of the Mississippi National Guard units were mobilized.

In July 1953, the Mississippi Air National Guard's 172nd Airlift Wing was formed at Hawkins Field in Jackson. It is recognized as the first Air National Guard unit in the nation to use night photo reconnaissance, the first ANG unit to have an aeromedical evacuation mission, and the first Mississippi National Guard unit to enlist females.

During Operation Desert Shield/Desert Storm, Mississippi was the largest National Guard contributor to the war effort. More than 6,500 Mississippi National Guard members, representing 70 units and 57 communities, served on active duty during the Persian Gulf Crisis, with more than 1,300 deployed to Saudi Arabia.

In support of Operations Noble Eagle, Enduring Freedom (Afghanistan), Iraqi Freedom, New Dawn, Spartan Shield and Inherent Resolve, the Mississippi National Guard has mobilized more than 15,000 service members, with every deployable unit participating.

From protecting the skies over Washington, D.C., with the 1st Battalion, 204th Air Defense Artillery; to patrolling the streets and conducting historic elections with the 155th Armored Brigade Combat Team in Iraq; to hunting the Taliban in Afghanistan with the 2nd Battalion, 20th Special Forces Group; to conducting theater-level logistics for all of Southwest Asia with the 184th Sustainment Command; and to conducting combat aeromedical evacuation missions with the 172nd Airlift Wing, the Mississippi National Guard continues her faithful service to the citizens of Mississippi and the United States of America.

MISSISSIPPI STATE GUARD

The mission of the Mississippi State Guard is "to establish and maintain an all-volunteer formal military organization as the State's reserve to the Mississippi National Guard (MSNG)."

The role of the State Guard is to assist the Mississippi National Guard with in-state missions, as directed by the Governor and the Adjutant General of Mississippi. The State Guard is tasked with assuming the mission of the Mississippi Army National Guard should they be fully mobilized outside the state. The State Guard is similarly tasked with securing armories, providing assistance to Guard families, and assuming other duties until the full mobilization ceases. State Guard personnel may, at the request of the Adjutant General of Mississippi, be trained in the protection of life and property of the citizens of Mississippi due to natural or man-made disasters.

The U.S. Constitution, U.S. Code, Title 32, Section 109, authorized the states to organize a State Defense Force (SDF) as provided by its laws. The Mississippi Code of 1972, Chapter 5, sections 33-5-1 through 33-5-53 authorizes the establishment of the Mississippi State Guard.

STENNIS SPACE CENTER

Director – Richard J. Gilbrech

The Federal Government selected an area of Hancock County to become the home of a static test facility for launch vehicles on Oct. 1, 1961; America set foot on the moon less than eight years later.

The test facility is located in the southwest corner of Mississippi, just 50 miles northeast of New Orleans, and encompasses more than 13,500 acres, with a surrounding sound buffer of almost 125,000 acres.

The program at Stennis Space Center began on April 23, 1966, with the flight certification of all first and second stages of the Saturn V rocket for the Apollo program, and continued well into the 1970s. The program expanded its testing platforms to include space shuttle main engines in 1975 and continued for 34 years before ceasing operations just two years before the end of NASA's Space Shuttle Program in 2011.

Originally named Mississippi Test Operations in 1961, the name changed to the Mississippi Test Facility in 1965 before again changing its name to the National Space Technology Laboratories in 1974. After being added to the U.S. National Register of Historic Places and becoming a U.S. National Historic Landmark in October 1985, the name changed again in 1988 to the John C. Stennis Space Center, honoring the U.S. Senator from Mississippi who led the push for, and support of, the nation's space program.

The John C. Stennis Space Center is also home to the INFINITY Science Center, a 72,000 square foot non-profit museum that also hosts the NASA Visitor Center, replacing the old 14,000 square foot StenniSphere in April 2012.

HEALTHCARE

ADVANCING MISSISSIPPI HEALTHCARE

Mississippi is at the very heart of medical research and advances. At any given time, there are hundreds of clinical trials taking place in the state, representing dozens of categories, from cancer and stroke research to diabetes and debilitating arthritis. This research aims to find new and effective therapies for illnesses that affect Mississippians at a higher rate than others across the nation.

Telemedicine is another healthcare advancement where Mississippi has excelled. Since 2003, when the University of Mississippi Medical Center first used technology to link trauma clinicians with rural emergency departments throughout the state, Mississippi has continued to be a national leader in telemedicine. And more recently, due to necessary restrictions from the COVID-19 pandemic, Mississippi has again made significant advancements in telemedicine, mainly through the expansion of rural broadband. The increase of this service has given underserved Mississippians access to advanced medical diagnoses and treatments they would not have had prior.

As expected, the COVID-19 pandemic has been the central focus of medical care in Mississippi. State Health Officer, Dr. Thomas Dobbs, says the collaborative efforts to take care of those in need throughout the pandemic has been remarkable and a true testament to the giving nature of Mississippians.

> "I saw people come together stronger than ever before and rise up as champions to fight hard in a tough new war. I watched folks help each other through that strong common bond we call humanity. We missed our family at home to save the world from an enemy."

Dr. Thomas Dobbs, State Health Officer

"Mississippi has come together to make sure those in hunger, pain, or illness had a source of refuge," said Dr. Dobbs, "and the response of the medical community is hard to overestimate. Our healthcare heroes have weathered long days, short supplies, and high stress while taking considerable risks to their own safety. I can't compliment our public health teams, MEMA, and the National Guard enough. Their tireless and coordinated efforts saved many lives."

Lee Bond, CEO of Singing River Health System, has similar praise for those in healthcare. "I am so proud of the fearless frontline warriors and their grit, resolve, and determination to save lives," said Bond. "The strongest, most dedicated people have risen to challenge."

Bond says he is very optimistic for the future. "I believe the worst is behind us, and I think we're getting back to normal little by little."

> "I have seen so many of Mississippi's frontline workers put in a superhuman effort, and remarkably, with a cheerful attitude. The best of Mississippi is represented in the heart of service witnessed in the pandemic."

The Mississippi State Department of Health's (MSDH) mission is to promote and protect the health of the citizens of Mississippi. The MSDH strives for excellence in government, cultural competence in carrying out its mission, and local solutions to local problems. The Department identifies its values as applied scientific knowledge, teamwork and customer service. Mississippi's State Board of Health was established in 1877 to protect and advance health throughout Mississippi, and became the Mississippi State Department of Health in 1982. The major operations of the agency involve health protection, health promotion, and health planning, health equity, and the identification of communicable diseases and limiting its transmission.

The Department oversees disease surveillance by tracking diseases and creating outbreak management plans, while also coordinating statewide immunizations and vaccinations. MSDH also creates prevention programs and organizes laboratory testing for flu viruses, mosquito-borne diseases, STDs, and communicable diseases.

The Department's environmental protection consists of testing drinking water, regulating on-site wastewater and sewage-systems, and completing restaurant permits and inspections.

The Mississippi State Department of Health assists with disease and injury prevention by making tobacco control and cessation programs available, as well as creating nutritional training and information. The Department focuses on chronic disease prevention and management for arthritis, diabetes, asthma, heart disease, high blood pressure, cancer, and other diseases. It also regulates safety programs for biking, walking, car seats, and fires.

The MSDH helps keep the state safe by preparing the public for disasters and public health emergencies. It holds regular training sessions to ensure preparedness and create response plans. The Mississippi State Department of Health has emergency readiness programs and severe weather and disaster response programs.

The Department oversees the required and recommended childhood immunizations, as well as meningococcal and HPV vaccinations for adolescents. The MSDH also recommends vaccinations for international travel and creates seasonal flu vaccinations for all ages.

The Mississippi State Department of Health is responsible for licensing and regulating child care facilities, nursing homes, assisted living facilities, hospitals, trauma care, and other healthcare facilities. The Department also provides educational information and counseling, physical exams and contraceptive supplies, STD/HIV testing, and pregnancy care. The Women, Infants and Children (WIC) program creates supplemental food packages through its Electronic Benefit Transfer card (EBT), nutrition education classes, breastfeeding support, and health care referrals.

Along with issuing birth and marriage certificates, the Department supervises and monitors medical treatments in the state. It also coordinates patients with community resources and give special care for children with chronic or disabling conditions.

In addition to all of this, the Mississippi State Department of Health provides the public and media with information. The Office distributes emergency notifications to the public as well as provides the latest information on all MSDH program areas. This includes public outreach campaigns using a variety of media from TV, radio, social media, billboards, etc. The Office ensures real-time updates via its website, Facebook, Twitter, and other digital media sites and applications (apps).

MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF MENTAL HEALTH

The Mississippi Department of Mental Health (DMH) provides and financially supports a network of services for people with mental illness, intellectual/developmental disabilities, substance abuse problems, and Alzheimer's disease and/or other dementia. Their goal is to improve the lives of Mississippians by supporting a better tomorrow, today.

The mental health service delivery system is comprised of three major components: state-operated programs and community service programs, regional community mental health centers, and other nonprofit/profit service agencies/organizations.

The Mississippi Department of Mental Health continues to work towards a recovery-oriented system of care which focuses on a network of support and services. This includes state-run behavioral health programs, community-based care, peer-run services, involvement from family, and other types of support that incorporate the values and principles associated with recovery. DMH administers and operates six behavioral health programs. The programs provide inpatient services for people (adults and children) with serious mental illnesses and substance abuse.

Regional community mental health centers (CMHCs) operate under the authority of regional commissions appointed by county boards of supervisors comprising their service areas. The 14 regional health centers provide a range of community-based mental health, substance use, and in some regions, intellectual/developmental disabilities services. CMHC governing authorities are considered regional and not state-level entities, and the Department of Mental Health is responsible for certifying, monitoring, and assisting CMHCs. Community mental health centers are the primary service providers for community-based mental health and substance abuse services.

There are five program locations that provide residential services for people with intellectual/developmental disabilities and one center for adolescents with intellectual/developmental disabilities. These programs are a primary vehicle for delivering community services throughout the state.

NATURAL RESOURCES

OUR NATURE-RICH HOME

MISSISSIPPI'S DIVERSITY EXTENDS AS MUCH TO HER NATURAL RESOURCES AS TO THE CULTURALLY RICH DIVERSITY OF HER PEOPLE.

Alex Littlejohn, State Director, Mississippi
The Nature Conservancy

"It's like an outdoor paradise," said Alex Littlejohn, State Director of The Nature Conservancy. "You can leave the foothills of Pickwick Lake … travel through the rolling hills of North Mississippi that were William Faulkner's back porch … roll into the flatlands of the Delta, through cypress lakes and oxbow lakes … then backtrack through the Black Prairie region down through the pine hills of central Mississippi and on down to the Coast, and you've just seen six or seven different landscapes inside one state. It's just incredible!"

Natural beauty abounds. And the opportunities to enjoy it are almost limitless.

"You can catch a small mouth bass off Yellow Creek Waterfall up in Iuka, and within a matter of hours be on the opposite end of state catching redfish and trout – all inside the state boundaries," said Littlejohn.

By and large, Mississippians feel tied to the land – and waters – of our nature-rich home. It's evident in everything from our agricultural-based economy to our vast contributions to the arts. The fertile soils of the Mississippi Delta yield crops, yet they are also "The Birthplace of America's Music." Writers, artists, singers, songwriters … all manner of talent has sprung forth from Mississippi's influential natural resources.

"People don't realize that timber is our number-one export, not cotton," said Littlejohn. "As an agricultural state, the health of our economy is tied directly to the health of natural resources. Our state can only benefit by efforts made and pride taken in our natural resources."

Our river systems are unmatched. The Mississippi River is the third-largest river in the world, and the Pascagoula River is the largest undammed, unaltered, free-flowing river in the continental U.S.

"People need to realize the incredible opportunities we have here and take advantage of them," said Littlejohn. "All our coastal streams … the Wolf River, Little Biloxi, Big Biloxi … the barrier islands off the Coast – from Ship Island all the way to Cat Island – it's just gorgeous. People need to visit these places, right here in our own backyard."

> "Mississippians have always held a strong sense of place, because no matter where we each end up in life, most of us will always call Mississippi our home."

MISSISSIPPI'S NATURAL RESOURCES

Mississippi can be divided into five broad geographical regions: the Delta region in northwest Mississippi, the Hills region in north Mississippi, the Pines region in east-central Mississippi, the Capital/River region from Jackson to Vicksburg to Natchez, and the Coastal region in south Mississippi along the Gulf Coast. The state's physiographic divisions include 10 distinct landform regions: the Tombigbee Hills, the Black Prairie, the Pontotoc Ridge, the Flatwoods, the North Central Hills, the Loess Hills, the Yazoo Basin, the Jackson Prairie, the Pine Hills, and the Coastal Meadows.

The state has 119 public lakes, 123,000 stream miles, and 255,000 freshwater acres. Additionally, the state has 16 major aquifers supplying over 90 percent of Mississippi's drinking water. Mississippi has six major reservoirs: Pickwick Lake on the Tennessee River, Arkabutla Lake near Coldwater, Sardis Lake near Oxford, Enid Lake in Yalobusha County, Grenada Lake near Grenada, and the Ross Barnett Reservoir to the northeast of Jackson.

More than 19 million acres of forestland cover almost 65 percent of the state, of which almost 80 percent is privately owned. The remainder is public land including a network of state parks, state wildlife management areas, and six national forests – Bienville, DeSoto, Homochitto, Delta, Holly Springs, and Tombigbee. This public land represents 1.2 million acres dedicated to recreation and wilderness protection.

The forestry industry is a national model of sustainable forest management. Mississippi was the first state in the nation to establish a reforestation tax credit to encourage landowners to replant after harvest, and was also the first to create a statewide forest inventory using remote-sensing satellite imagery to calculate the size and diversity of forestlands.

The state's namesake, the Mississippi River, runs along the western boundaries of Mississippi. The river and its tributaries continually deposit rich alluvial soil throughout the Mississippi Delta, resulting in agricultural industry that contributes to Mississippi's economy.

Mississippi's white-sand beaches along the Gulf Coast draw millions of visitors annually, in addition to the state-conserved Coastal tidelands and barrier islands.

There are more than one million acres of public hunting lands in Mississippi, including 15 National Wildlife Refuges and 53 state wildlife management areas representing a wide variety of habitats.

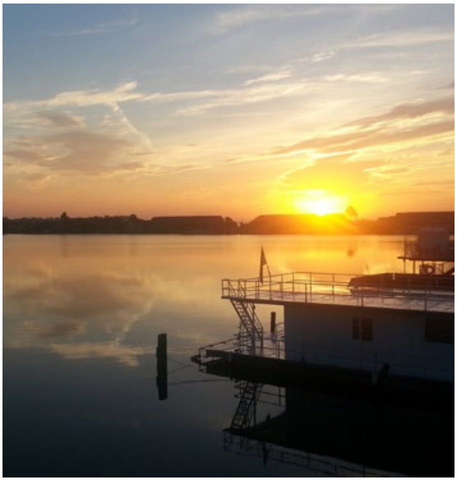
ROSS BARNETT RESERVOIR

The Ross Barnett Reservoir was created in 1965 by impounding the Pearl River between Madison and Rankin Counties and is named after the 52nd governor of Mississippi. It is bounded by the Natchez Trace Parkway and has 105 miles of shoreline. The lake is about 45 miles long and 3.5 miles wide in some places. The average depth is 12 feet and there is approximately 33,000 acres of surface area.

The Pearl River Valley Water Supply District is the state agency that was created to manage the lake and its surrounding area. The district provides a water supply for the city of Jackson. It also maintains the reservoir's dam and monitors water quality in cooperation with the Mississippi Department of Health and the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality.

An estimated 2.5 million people visit the 48 recreational facilities annually. Available facilities include: five campgrounds, 16 parks, 22 boat launches, three handicapped-accessible trails, two multi-purpose trails and a mountain bike trail. Each campground has a police manager. The District also developed five marinas, four baseball/soccer complexes and two golf courses. Almost 20 miles of paved trails for walking, jogging, bicycling and sightseeing connect the reservoir to surrounding neighborhoods and shopping areas.



NATCHEZ TRACE PARKWAY

The historic Natchez Trace Parkway is a 444 mile long path that connects Natchez to Nashville. The Parkway was created and used for centuries by Native Americans, and was later used by early European and American explorers, traders and emigrants in the late 18th and early 19th centuries.

The Trace is open year-round to motorists, hikers and bikers. It gives visitors the chance to take a leisurely trip through time. The Parkway is headquartered in Tupelo and is maintained and administered by the National Park Service.

Visitors can discover scenic areas, numerous hiking trails, picnic sites, campgrounds and water recreation areas. Almost 30 hiking and self-guiding trails cover 60 miles of the Natchez Trace. Besides cars, motorcycles, bicycles and RVs are popular ways visitors travel the Trace.

PUBLIC TRUST LANDS

The Mississippi Secretary of State has the constitutional and statutory authority to protect Mississippi's public trust lands to preserve the state's resources for future generations. These responsibilities include enforcing the 16th Section Public School Trust Lands and Lieu Lands laws, developing and implementing the Public Trust Tidelands Management Programs, overseeing the sale of lands forfeited to the State for non-payment of ad valorem taxes, maintaining an inventory of State agency lands and providing services to the public and governmental subdivisions relating to sales, acquisitions, leasing, and title of the State's real property assets.

16TH SECTION PUBLIC SCHOOL TRUST LANDS

Mississippi is the only state east of the Mississippi River that substantially retains and utilizes its school trust lands for the benefit of local school districts. The designated lands, including 642,000 surface acres and 674,000 mineral acres, have generated millions of dollars in revenue used to fund public schools for nearly two centuries. Upon statehood in 1817, Mississippi received one section containing approximately 640 acres out of every six-square-mile-township. These designated lands were set aside to support the specific public school that fell within each district. All revenues generated by 16th Section Public Trust Land goes directly to the local school district. Approximately 99 school districts manage the trust lands within their boundaries.

The Mississippi Secretary of State is the statutorily mandated supervisory trustee of 16th Section Public Trust Lands. The Secretary of State reviews and signs all leases to guarantee that the school trust receives fair market value and utilizes the land in the best way possible.

In an effort to increase transparency, the Secretary of State's Office now posts all leases online at www.sos.ms.gov. This website also posts notices for bids to be accepted for hunting, agriculture, and mineral leases. In order to assist the schools in managing the lands in their districts, the agency provides fillable lease forms, annual report forms and change forms. Y'all Business is another tool found online at www.yallbusiness.ms. There is a section for leased lands where the public can see the actual parcels of trust lands by county. The parcel information is from tax assessors' offices and is tied with the state lease number.

These are just a few of the tools that are currently offered by the Secretary of State's Office. The agency wants to provide excellent service to the public and give school districts the tools they need to make the management of trust lands easier and more efficient. This has led to a steady increase in revenues, more efficient management of lands and a greater involvement between schools and the public, as well as a partnership with the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

The partnership with the Mississippi Forestry Commission has resulted in the certification of 480,000 acres of 16th Section timber by the American Tree Farm System – all in an effort to produce better harvests and greater revenue over time. Roughly 70% of Mississippi's State Trust Lands are managed for timber.

Since the implementation of the lease review process, revenues have increased to exceed over $100 million for several years. Even with market fluctuations that affect mineral, timber, and agriculture, the overall revenues have greatly improved.

In 2019, oil and gas revenues from 16th Section Lands were $7.7 million. Timber revenues were $11.4 million and surface leasing increased modestly to $23.5 million.

A HISTORY OF 16TH SECTION LANDS

The origin of 16th Section Public School Trust Lands in America can be traced to the British and Colonial tradition of reserving land for the support of public schools. After the formation of the Union, Thomas Jefferson incorporated the practice into the Land Ordinance of 1785.

Designed to encourage westward expansion, the Ordinance adopted a six-square-mile township as its basic unit of measure and "… reserved the lot no. 16, of every township, for the maintenance of public schools within said township …" The reservation of land for public schools was further confirmed in the Northwest Ordinance of 1787. Later, in 1798, when Congress established the Mississippi Territory, it provided a government initially based on the Northwest Ordinance model.

With division of the Mississippi Territory in 1817 to form the State of Mississippi and the Territory of Alabama, Congress called for a survey of land in the new state. Again, 16th Section land was reserved in each township.

THE TREATIES

At the time of statehood, Native Americans inhabited Mississippi. The Choctaw Nation occupied the area south and west of a line extending southeasterly from the Coahoma and Tunica County boundary to a point on the old Natchez Trace in Webster County and then across Clay County in a generally southeasterly direction to a point on the Tombigbee River. The Chickasaw Nation inhabited the area north and east of that line.

In September 1830, the United States and the Choctaws signed the Treaty of Dancing Rabbit Creek. In accordance with the treaty, 16th Sections were reserved from government land sales. The territorial claims of the Chickasaws were resolved with their removal under the Treaty of Pontotoc in 1832. Although these lands were to be sold by the government to private parties "… in the same manner … " they were, in fact, sold with no 16th Section reservations.

Today, 15 counties lie entirely north of the Choctaw-Chickasaw Boundary and have no reserved 16th Section lands. The counties are Tishomingo, Alcorn, Tippah, Benton, Marshall, DeSoto, Tunica, Tate, Lafayette, Union, Prentiss, Itawamba, Lee, Pontotoc, and Chickasaw. Another seven, Quitman, Panola, Yalobusha, Calhoun, Webster, Clay, and Monroe, are bisected by the Choctaw-Chickasaw Boundary and have no 16th Section lands in the portions of those counties lying north of the boundary. Although the boundary passes through Tallahatchie County, there are no 16th Sections lying north of the boundary in that county.

CHICKASAW CESSION LANDS

To compensate for this failure, in 1836 Congress granted the State of Mississippi 174,555 acres of unsold public land in Bolivar, Coahoma, Tallahatchie, Quitman, Panola, and Leake counties. In the 1850s, Congress and the State of Mississippi allowed this lieu land to be sold. Mississippi invested the $1,047,330 realized from the sale in eight percent interest loans to railroad companies in the state. The principal was lost with the destruction of the railroads during the Civil War.

Thereafter, the Mississippi Legislature began making annual appropriations to school districts in the Chickasaw Cession equal to the eight percent interest on the lost principal. The interest amount was reduced from eight to six percent by the Constitution of 1890. For decades, annual appropriations totaling approximately $62,000 were made to the school districts in the Chickasaw Cession. But by the 1980s, the estimated annual appropriation amounted to only $0.63 per pupil in the Chickasaw Cession school districts, while the estimated average income per pupil from 16th Section land in the Choctaw Cession counties was $75.34.

In 1981, Chickasaw Cession school districts successfully challenged the disparity as a violation of the United States Constitution's equal protection clause. As a result, the Chickasaw Cession school districts now receive a payment per teacher unit based on the average annual expendable 16th Section revenue per teacher unit received by the Choctaw Cession school districts, less the amount of the annual interest appropriation.

COURT RULINGS

In 1890, the United States Supreme Court declared the early laws reserving land in each township for the support of public education to be a "binding and perpetual obligation." In 1895, the Mississippi Supreme Court ruled that 16th Section lands are held by the State in trust for public schools. In 1906, Mississippi Supreme Court Chief Justice A.H. Whitfield opined: "Sixteenth sections are set apart as a sacred trust. No greater trust can be committed to any state than that of the education of the children within its borders … And, if one such trust can be more sacred than another, it is that trust designed to bring home to the doors of the poor children of the commonwealth the means of acquiring a good education."

Despite Congressional and federal and state judicial endorsements, management of the 16th Section land, with few exceptions, ranged from indifferent to abusive. Disregarding the Mississippi Constitution's prohibition against donation of public lands, many 99-year leases of 16th Section lands were given for one-time payments. Through generations, leaseholders mistakenly came to view themselves as the actual owners of the 16th Sections.

This perception began to change in the early 1970s when Smith County Superintendent of Education Joe Tally refused to sign inadequately compensated leases. Litigation resulted in a Mississippi Supreme Court decision holding that 16th Section lands must be leased for fair market value. The 1974 Legislature gave local school boards veto power in leasing 16th Section land.

16TH SECTION LAND REFORM ACT

In 1978, 16th Section and Lieu Land Act was passed by the Legislature, with Lieutenant Governor Evelyn Gandy casting the tie-breaking vote in the Senate. It provides that 16th Section school lands and lieu lands are held in trust for the benefit of the public schools; it transfers control of public school trust lands from the Boards of Supervisors to the Boards of Education, under the general supervision of the Secretary of State.

Since the passage of the 1978 16th Section and Lieu Land Act, 16th Section land leases are based on a classification system. The nine classifications include: Forest Land, Agricultural Land, Industrial Land, Commercial Land, Residential Land, Farm Residential Land, Recreational Land, Other Land, and Catfish Farming Land. Classification is determined by a finding of the highest and best use of the land for producing the maximum revenue.

All timber on 16th Section land is under the general supervision and management of the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

LEASING AND COMPETITIVE BIDDING

Based on statutory requirements, local Boards of Education offer three classifications of land for competitive bid. Those classifications include: Agriculture, Forestry (hunting and fishing), and Mineral lands. Agriculture leases are awarded to the highest bidder, while forestry leases allow the existing leaseholder the right to renew their lease by matching the highest acceptable bid received. Mineral leases are awarded to the highest bidder with the caveat that the bid includes royalty payments and a bonus. Agriculture leases do not exceed five-year terms, unless the land is used for cultivation of rice or for pasture land. In those cases, the term may not exceed 10 years. Forest leases for hunting usually have terms that do not exceed five years.

All 16th Section lands, regardless of classification, may be leased for the exploration, development, mining, and production of oil, gas, and minerals including: carbon dioxide and other gaseous substances; metals, compounds of metals, metal-bearing ores; coal, lignite, sulfur, salt, sand, gravel, fill dirt, and clay.

LEASING BY APPLICATION AND APPRAISAL

Lands not offered by competitive bid are leased based on an appraised value. The appraisal is fee simple and values the land without improvements. At the discretion of the local school board, a rate of return of the appraised value is used to determine the rent. For leases of industrial land and commercial land, the annual rental may not be set at less than five percent of the current market value, exclusive of buildings or improvements not owned by the school district.

The maximum lease term for all land classifications leased upon application is 40 years, and rent adjustment clauses are mandatory, except in leases of residential and farm residential land. Rent adjustment clauses are optional, but recommended, in residential and farm residential leases.

Application to lease properties is submitted to the Superintendent of Education and the Board of Education for approval. Once the property has been appraised and the lease has been drafted, the terms and rent of each lease must be approved.

The holder of a lease granted upon application has a prior right to re-lease or extend an existing lease on terms as may be agreed upon the Board of Education, but subject to the classification of the land. Assignments of leases of 16th Section lands are allowed only if the lease contract so provides, or at the discretion of the Board of Education, provided that it may not arbitrarily withhold permission for assignment.

REVENUES – EXPENDABLE AND NON-EXPENDABLE FUNDS

Revenues collected from the following sources are deemed expendable funds: lease bonuses and annual delay rentals collected under oil, gas and mineral leases; annual rents collected under leases covering all 16th Section land classifications; interest received upon loans or investments of the principal fund; and proceeds from the sale of timber. Generally, expendable funds may be used for all the same purposes as other available school funds in operating and maintaining the schools of the district.

The principal fund is a permanent fund consisting of revenue received from the following sources: easements and rights-of-way; sales of lieu land; permanent damages to school trust land; sales of nonrenewable resources including, but not limited to, the sale of sand, gravel, dirt, clays, and royalties received from the sale of mineral ores, coal, oil, and gas; sales of buildings on 16th Section lands, and sales of timber. Except for income from timber sales, funds required to be deposited into the principal fund are not expendable. However, if a district desires to spend income from timber sales, it must maintain a separate principal fund account for timber income.

Districts are authorized to borrow principal funds at a rate of interest of not less than four percent per annum for a term of not more than 20 years for the erection, equipment, or repair of school buildings, improvement of timber stands, and to provide funds for any building project approved by the State Board of Education. Additionally, districts may borrow funds, at the same interest rate, for a term not exceeding 10 years for the purchase of school buses. It is the duty of the Board of Education to keep the principal fund invested.

BUILDING ON REFORM

The passage of the 1978 16th Section and Lieu Land Act made tremendous strides in instituting sound management practices of our School Trust Lands. Secretary of State Michael Watson strives to build upon the 16th Section Reform Act and the work of prior Secretaries of State by allowing for more open transparency in the way Mississippi regulates 16th Section land.

TIDELANDS

OUR TIDELANDS POLICY

It is the policy of the State of Mississippi to favor the preservation of the natural state of the public trust tidelands and their ecosystems and to prevent the despoliation and destruction of them, except where a specific alteration would serve a higher public interest in compliance with the public purposes of the trust. Public Trust Tidelands are managed with a view towards preservation and conservation.

Mississippi's Public Tidelands Trust includes all lands beneath waters that are naturally subject to tidal influence. In general, the inland boundary of the trust is the line of mean high tide of the Gulf of Mexico and the bays, rivers and bayous that flow into it. The outer boundary is the state's seaward boundary, three miles south of the barrier islands. The mean high tide is an arithmetic average of ordinary high tides over a 19-year tidal epoch. As such, the boundary line between public trust tidelands and privately owned lands is not a fixed, stationary line. It ambulates with changes in the mean high tide over the years. Accretion and reliction may increase the upland private estate; while erosion, subsidence and rising sea levels may move the boundary inland and increase the area held as public tidelands and submerged lands. Artificial changes to a shoreline, such as filling or dredging, do not change the public trust tidelands boundary.

THE PUBLIC TRUST DOCTRINE – IN HISTORY AND AS APPLIED IN MISSISSIPPI

The Public Trust Doctrine, the historical legal authority upon which these lands are administered, is of ancient origin. The concept of common ownership of the sea and the seashore is based on the second century work of the Roman jurist Gaius. The doctrine was later codified by Justinian, the emperor who ruled the Roman Empire from Constantinople in the Sixth Century: "… Let us proceed to the law of Things. Of these, some admit of private ownership, while others … are by natural law common to all … The following things are by natural law common to all – the air, running water, the sea, and consequently the seashore."

Roman civil law shaped not only the civil law of Continental Europe, but also the common law of England, where the tidelands were protected by the King for all his subjects, and subsequently the law of the United States.

The original colonies withheld their tidelands from the United States when they adopted the Constitution and entered the Union. Subsequently admitted states entered the union on an equal footing with the original thirteen, with the United States creating similar trusts for each new state.

Mississippi's Public Tidelands Trust was funded at the time of statehood in 1817. In 1857, the Mississippi Supreme Court recognized in Martin v. O'Brien, 34 Miss. 21, that "the shores of the sea below high-water mark belong to the state as trustee for the public …" and there followed a long and unbroken line of cases recognizing the State's ownership of lands overflowed by the tide. The issue attracted new interest in the mid-1980s when a dispute arose between the State and private owners over the right to lease oil, gas, and mineral interests. In the 1986 Mississippi Supreme Court decision in Cinque Bambini Partnership v. State, 491 So.2d 508, Justice James Robertson, writing for a unanimous court, declared that "title to all lands naturally subject to tidal influence, inland to today's mean high-water mark, is held by the State of Mississippi in trust …" Justice Robertson noted in the Cinque Bambini ruling that, "The public purposes to which these lands and waters placed in the public trust may be devoted are not static." They include navigation and transportation; commerce; fishing; bathing, swimming, and other recreational activities; development of mineral resources; environmental protection and preservation; the enhancement of aquatic, avarian and marine life, sea agriculture "and no doubt others."

In February 1988, the United States Supreme Court affirmed the Cinque Bambini decision in Phillips Petroleum Company v. Mississippi, 484 U.S. 108, 108 S.Ct. 791, 98 L.Ed. 277.

Following the state and federal Supreme Court decisions, the Mississippi Legislature in 1989 adopted the Public Trust Tidelands Act, which is codified primarily in Chapter 15 of Title 29 of the Mississippi Code. The Legislature, mindful of the many and sometimes conflicting public purposes of the trust, declared it "to be the public policy of this State to favor the preservation of the natural state of the public trust tidelands and their ecosystems and to prevent the despoliation and destruction of them, except where a specific alteration of specific public trust tidelands would serve a higher public interest in compliance with the public purposes of the public trust in which such tidelands are held." MCA §29-15-3(1). And while the law provides that tidelands and submerged lands are held by the State in trust for use of all the people, it also recognizes the State's responsibilities as trustee extend to littoral and riparian property owners as well as to other members of the public. MCA §29-15-5.

The constitutionality of the 1989 Public Trust Tidelands Act was upheld by the Mississippi Supreme Court in Secretary of State v. Wiesenberg, 633 So.2d 983 (Miss. 1994).

TIDELANDS MAPS

In the preamble to the Public Trust Tidelands Act, the Legislature found that certainty and stability of the land titles of riparian and littoral property owners along the shores of tidally affected waters of the state are essential to the economic welfare of the state and to the peace, tranquility, and financial security of the citizens of the State of Mississippi. A crucial part of this act directed the Secretary of State to publish maps depicting the boundary of the public trust tidelands. MCA § 29-15-7. Pursuant to this directive, final maps were adopted and certified on December 5, 1994. These maps provide the basis for determining the boundary between private upland and Public Trust Tidelands by showing areas where the shoreline is natural and where the shoreline has been artificially altered by excavation and filling. Official copies of these maps are available in the Secretary of State offices in Jackson and Biloxi, as well as in the offices of the Chancery Clerks of Hancock, Harrison, and Jackson counties.

TIDELANDS LEASING

Under MCA §29-1-107, the Secretary of State is authorized to "rent or lease surface lands, tidelands or submerged lands owned or controlled by the State of Mississippi lying in or adjacent to the Mississippi Sound or Gulf of Mexico or streams emptying therein…" The Secretary of State may decide a particular proposed alteration of public trust tidelands does not serve a higher public interest in compliance with the purposes of the trust and decline to lease tidelands to a lease applicant. The discretionary nature of the tidelands leasing authority was upheld by the Mississippi Supreme Court in Columbia Land Development LLC v. Secretary of State Eric Clark, 868 So.2d 1006 (Miss. 2004).

Pursuant to this statutory and judicial authority, the Secretary of State publishes Rules, Regulations and Procedures for the Administration, Control and Leasing of Public Trust Tidelands and Submerged Lands. Because the Mississippi Constitution in Section 95 prohibits the donation of lands belonging to the State to individuals or private corporations, these rules generally require that, when an activity on public trust tidelands requires a lease, the lease rental must be fair market value. In 2012, the Legislature exempted littoral and riparian owners' residential piers from the leasing requirements.

In all cases where a lease is required, the Secretary of State establishes the initial rent. In most cases the initial rent is based on an appraisal prepared by a qualified appraiser selected by the Secretary of State. The prospective lessee is free to provide the State's appraiser with any information he believes is relevant. The law requires rent review and adjustment at each fifth anniversary of the lease. The rent adjustment is tied either to the All-Urban Consumer Price Index – All Items (CPI) or to an appraisal that deducts the value of the lessee's improvements. Casino leases are generally adjusted annually by the CPI index.

The Secretary of State's administrative rules consider the special status of riparian and littoral owners. In the riparian or littoral area, the rules provide that only the riparian or littoral owner or someone who stands in his shoes can lease the adjoining tidelands for private use. Nevertheless, the State may impose additional public uses in a littoral or riparian area provided such uses serve a higher public purpose approved by the legislature.

THE PUBLIC TRUST TIDELANDS FUND / THE PUBLIC TRUST ASSESSMENT FUND

The rents which the State collects from tidelands leases are deposited in the Public Trust Tidelands Fund. Each year, after covering lost ad valorem taxes, if any, within the three Coastal counties, the Secretary of State disburses the Tidelands Funds to the Department of Marine Resources.

After Hurricane Katrina, the Legislature took action to allow casinos to operate on shore, generally within 800 feet of the water's edge. Casinos on shore pay a statutory assessment in lieu of a tidelands lease rent. The amount of the statutory assessment is based on the capital investment in the part of the structure in which licensed gaming activities are conducted. The statutory assessments are deposited in the Public Trust Assessment Fund. Each year the Secretary of State disburses the Assessment Funds to the Department of Marine Resources.

Revenues deposited in the Tidelands Fund or the Assessment Fund and disbursed to the Department of Marine Resources are allocated by the State Legislature programs and projects relating to tidelands management, such as conservation, reclamation, preservation, acquisition, education, or the enhancement of public access to the public trust tidelands or public improvement projects as they relate to such lands." MCA §29-15-9 and MCA §29-15-10.

Between 1990 and 2020, the Secretary of State has turned back more than $165.9 million from tidelands leases and assessments to the Department of Marine Resources for disbursement by the Mississippi legislature. That money is spent in the three coastal counties to build public piers and boat launches; to improve and build municipal and county marinas and harbors; to establish and monitor fishing reefs in the Mississippi Sound; to acquire environmentally important habitat for Mississippi's Coastal Preserve System; and to conduct important scientific research on subjects like fisheries stocks, red tide and submerged sea grasses, and other subjects essential to the protection and preservation of the public trust tidelands and their ecosystems.

PROVIDING PUBLIC ACCESS AND PROTECTING PUBLIC TRUST TIDELANDS THROUGH PROPERTY ACQUISITION

The Secretary of State, as Trustee of Mississippi's Public Trust Tidelands, has also worked to acquire properties adjacent to the Tidelands to enhance the public's access and protection of these areas. Most of the properties acquired over the past 26 years were planned for and are managed with the help of the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources under the Mississippi Coastal Preserves System. Secretary of State Michael Watson participates as part of the property acquisition team using BP-Deepwater Horizon litigation settlement funds ensuring the State of Mississippi acquires good and clear title to purchased property and is in the position to serve as good stewards of lands acquired. Significant acquisitions recently accomplished through this funding source are in the Grand Bay National Estuarine Research Reserve, approximately 1500 acres, and the northern portion of Round Island, approximately 17 acres, both in Jackson County. Other acquisitions of note are the Baldwin Family property in Hancock County marshes, approximately 2,500 acres acquired in 2013 and two areas of Cat Island in Harrison County, including approximately 217 acres acquired from private owners in 2013 and approximately 492 acres acquired in 2016 through the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' Mississippi Coastal Improvement Program. An additional 40 acres of Cat Island's east beach were renourished under the program and added to the State's holdings. These properties will be managed by the State for the benefit and use of its citizens.

ELECTIONS

THE ELECTION DAY EXPERIENCE

An unbelievable amount of work goes into conducting elections in Mississippi, long before Election Day. Election officials must be educated and trained. Campaign finance and lobbying reports have to be collected. The statewide voter registry must be managed and maintained. Then, when Election Day comes, it's similar to any major event; there has to be a plan – and a backup plan to make sure everything runs as smoothly as possible for voters.

"Most people have no concept of the logistics that go on well before they walk into the precinct to cast their ballot," said Joy McComb, who has been a Poll Manager in Marion County for around 15 years.

She adds that changes in procedure happen from election to election, many of which seem minor but can significantly impact Election Day. A constant eye is cast toward making each election run seamlessly.

Some changes over the years have helped tremendously. Edna Stevens, who has served as Copiah County's Circuit Clerk since 1984, noted that when she first took office, everything was handled manually by paper ballot, which had to be hand-counted.

"I have seen the sunrise before, assisting counting totals from precincts the day after the election," said Stevens. "Plus, voter registration books and poll books were all prepared on a typewriter."

Times have certainly changed, and an ever-increasing number of voters makes positive change inevitable. "The November General Election of 2020 was a big election for the State of Mississippi," said Stevens. "And with COVID-19 in the midst of it all, the Secretary of State's Office, Circuit Clerks, Election Commissioners, and Poll Workers across the state did an outstanding job with what we were facing."

Regardless of being in the middle of a never-before-seen health crisis, the 2020 General Election in Mississippi sparked a remarkably high voter turnout. In fact, 1,313,894 Mississippians voted, breaking the previous record of 1,289,865 who voted in the 2008 presidential election between former President Barack Obama and John McCain.

"I was encouraged by the turnout – the freedom to vote means very little if the citizens do not exercise this right," said McComb. "Every ballot cast is a voice heard!"

Both Stevens and McComb agreed that, while the mechanics of Election Day are important, the voter experience is paramount.

"Some people are uncomfortable when they enter the voting precinct," said McComb. "Poll Managers have the privilege of making the process less intimidating. When we perform our job correctly, people are more likely to vote in the next election."

Stevens agreed. "Working in the elections department is very humbling and challenging. Keeping up with many changes in the election laws is vitally important. Having a good working relationship with the Secretary of State's Office, Election Commissioners, and party executive committees to ensure we have fair elections is what I strive for. Making sure that all registered voters are given the opportunity to vote is so important."

> "I am very proud of Mississippi for the emphasis placed on ensuring the voting process is valid and reliable. I look forward to each election because I know we have been well trained and have been given the most efficient and effective tools available."

ELECTIONS

Every year is an election year in Mississippi. Elections for all state offices and most county-level offices are held in years preceding presidential elections, which are held every four years. Most municipal elections are conducted in years immediately following presidential elections. The Secretary of State's Office trains and assists local election officials in the conduct of elections. The Secretary of State is statutorily authorized to certify certain election returns and to report to the Mississippi Legislature the electoral vote totals for statewide offices.

THE RIGHT TO VOTE

Registration Qualifications: Every United States citizen has the right to vote in Mississippi elections as long as he or she is:

- A resident of Mississippi and the county, city, or town for 30 days
- 18 years of age or older
- Not adjudicated mentally incompetent by a Court
- Not convicted in a Mississippi court of arson, armed robbery, bigamy, bribery, carjacking, embezzlement, extortion, felony bad check, felony shoplifting, forgery, larceny, larceny under lease or rental agreement, murder, obtaining money or goods under false pretense, perjury, rape, receiving stolen property, robbery, statutory rape, theft, timber larceny, unlawful taking of motor vehicle, or vote fraud unless having been pardoned or had rights of citizenship restored by Governor, or had suffrage restored by the Legislature

Registering to Vote: Register to vote in person with either the County Circuit Clerk, the Municipal Clerk, or at a duly authorized alternate locations, such as the Department of Public Safety or the Mississippi Division of Medicaid. Registrars must accept registration at any time during regular office hours. The registration application is kept as a permanent record. Registration must be accomplished at least 30 days prior to the election in which a citizen wishes to vote.

Mail-in voter registration forms are available at the Secretary of State's Office, in public libraries, driver's license examining stations, Circuit Clerks' Offices, Municipal Clerks' Offices, public schools, and online at the Secretary of State's website, www.sos.ms.gov. The application must be postmarked or delivered to the registrar 30 days prior to the election in which a citizen wishes to vote.

Polling places and precincts are assigned to registered voters by the voter registrar. Voters who move from one precinct to another within the county or city must submit a written change of address to the voter registrar. Voters who move from county to county within the state must re-register in the new county of residence.

Y'all Vote (www.yallvote.ms), a site launched by the Secretary of State's Office, allows citizens to change their voter registration information by submitting an online application. The online voter registration center is also aimed at preparing voters to cast a ballot on Election Day. Anyone who wishes to update name and address registration information online must already be a registered voter of Mississippi. Voters must also have a current and valid Mississippi driver's license or photo identification card issued by the Mississippi Department of Public Safety.

No Mississippian is required to declare a party preference in order to register to vote.

- Member of Mississippi's Congressional delegation, a spouse and/or dependent of a member

Applications for absentee ballots are accepted during regular office hours at the voter registrar's office beginning 60 days before an election. Applications also are accepted at the voter registrar's office from 8:00 a.m. until 12:00 p.m. on the two Saturdays immediately preceding an election. Absentee voting begins 45 days before an election.

Only registered voters who meet any one or more of the following criteria may apply for and cast absentee ballots by mail:

- 65 years of age or older
- Temporarily residing outside the county of residence
- Parent, spouse, and/or dependent who will be with a temporarily or permanently disabled individual who is hospitalized outside his/her county of residence, or more than 50 miles away from his/her residence, on Election Day
- Permanently or temporarily physically disabled

Mail-in absentee ballot applications must be notarized and officially sworn to by any one of the following:

- Notary public
- Any officer having authority to administer an oath or make an acknowledgment

Applications of persons who are temporarily or permanently physically disabled are not required to be notarized. It is sufficient for the application to be witnessed by a person 18 years of age or older.

Permanently physically disabled voters may receive absentee ballots on a continuing basis by submitting an absentee ballot application along with a statement signed and sworn to by a licensed physician or nurse practitioner to the voter registrar.

Members of the military outside their county of voting residence and Mississippi citizens residing overseas may mail, fax, or e-mail a Federal Post Card Application (FPCA) to the voter registrar in the county of their voting residence. The FPCA may be obtained from their military command or employer or downloaded from the Secretary of State's website. The FPCA may be used to register to vote, request an absentee ballot, or both. In addition, Mississippi law allows military and overseas voters to receive by mail, fax, or e-mail from the voter registrar an absentee ballot and to return the voted absentee ballot also by mail, fax, or email to the voter registrar until 7:00 p.m. on the day of the election. If time constraints dictate, a military or overseas voter may use a federal write-in absentee ballot for voting, also available on the Secretary of State's website.

Absentee ballots voted in the office of the voter registrar must be cast by noon on the Saturday immediately preceding a Tuesday election.

Mailed, completed absentee ballots must be received by the voter registrar before 5:00 p.m. on the day before Election Day, except for military and overseas ballots which may be received by the voter registrar until 7:00 p.m. on Election Day.

Absentee ballot fraud is vote fraud and is a crime in Mississippi. A person convicted of vote fraud is subject to a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $5,000, or by imprisonment in the county jail for no more than one year, or by both fine and imprisonment, or by being sentenced to the state penitentiary for not less than one year nor more than five years. The law describing the crime and penalties is found in Miss. Code Ann. § 23-15-753 (1972).

VOTER IDENTIFICATION

All voters casting a ballot in person at the polls or casting an absentee ballot in the Circuit or Municipal Clerk's Office must present one of the following forms of acceptable photo ID:

- A driver's license
- A government issued photo ID card
- A United States passport
- A government employee identification card
- A firearms license
- A student photo ID issued by an accredited Mississippi university, college, or community/junior college
- A United States military ID
- A tribal photo ID
- Any other photo ID issued by any branch, department, agency, or entity of the United States government or any State government
- A Mississippi Voter Identification Card

If a voter does not have any of the acceptable forms of photo identification, a Mississippi Voter Photo Identification Card is available at no cost to the individual. Mississippi Voter Identification Cards may be issued by any of the 92 Circuit Clerks' Offices located throughout all of Mississippi's 82 counties. If an individual needs travel assistance to obtain a Mississippi Voter ID Card, it may be provided at no cost to the individual by contacting the MS Secretary of State's Office.

The Voter Identification requirement does not apply to any eligible voter casting an absentee ballot by mail, fax, or e-mail, a voter having a religious objection to being photographed, and a voter living and voting in a licensed nursing home or assisted living center.

A voter who does not present an acceptable form of photo ID or is unable to present an acceptable form of photo ID because of a religious objection is entitled to cast an affidavit ballot. The affidavit voter's ballot shall be counted if the voter completes an Affidavit of Religious Objection in the Circuit Clerk's Office within five (5) business days after Election Day.

A voter who cannot or does not present an acceptable form of photo ID for any reason is also entitled to cast an affidavit ballot. The affidavit voter's ballot shall be counted if the voter presents an acceptable form of photo ID in, or obtains the Mississippi Voter Identification Card from the Circuit Clerk's Office within five (5) business days after Election Day.

The Voter Identification initiative, placed on the 2011 General Election ballot for statewide approval, was the result of a citizen driven initiative petition signed by 131,678 Mississippians. According to Mississippi law, petitioners were required to gather a minimum of 89,285 certified signatures with at least 17,857 certified signatures from each of the five Congressional Districts as they existed in 2000 for the initiative to be placed on the ballot. More than 62% of Mississippi voters approved the proposed Constitutional Amendment to require electors appearing in person to vote to present an approved form of photo identification before being allowed to cast a ballot.

THE ELECTION PROCESS

The two major political parties in Mississippi are the Democratic Party of Mississippi and the Mississippi Republican Party. Other registered political parties include the Libertarian Party of Mississippi, Constitution Party of Mississippi, Green Party of Mississippi, and the America First Party of Mississippi. Candidates who do not align themselves with any political party are known as Independents.

Generally, political parties choose members to serve on county executive committees during county caucuses held the year after gubernatorial races. Party state executive committees are elected at congressional district caucuses and state party conventions. Municipal party executive committees are elected in the municipal party primaries, usually held the year following presidential elections.

Qualifying for Office: All candidates must meet the legal requirements to hold the office sought. Most qualifying deadlines are the same for both independent candidates and party candidates.

Party candidates pay qualifying fees and file qualifying papers with the municipal clerk or county circuit clerk or, in the case of state, state district, and legislative offices, with the Secretary of State's Office.

Independent candidates also pay qualifying fees and file petitions signed by a specified number of registered voters in the county, district, or ward from which election is sought with the municipal or county circuit clerk. The signatures on all petitions must be certified by the respective circuit clerk prior to filing with the appropriate office. Independent candidates for state, state district, and legislative offices file qualifying papers with, and pay the qualifying fee to the Secretary of State's Office.

All candidates must:

- Never have been convicted of a felony in a court of this state, or, on or after December 8, 1992, of a felony in a federal court, or of an offense in the court of another state which is a felony under the laws of this state, as provided in Section 44 of the Mississippi Constitution; excluding, however, convictions of manslaughter and violations of the United States Internal Revenue Code or any violations of the tax laws of this state, unless the offense also involved the misuse or abuse of an office or money coming into a candidate's hands by virtue of an office.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS

Party candidates are nominated during party primary elections. Voters cast ballots in the party primary election of their choice. If no candidate receives a majority of the votes, a run-off, or second primary election, is held between the two candidates with the most votes.

Run-offs are held either two or three weeks after the primary depending on the office.

Voters who cast a ballot in the first primary election of one party may not "crossover" and vote in the run-off election of another party. Persons who do not vote in a first primary election of either party may vote in any party's run-off election.

County or municipal party executive committees conduct party primary elections and certify party primary election returns. These certified returns are filed with the Circuit or Municipal Clerk's Office, respectively. Results of state, legislative, or state district primary elections are sent to the state party executive committee for certification. Certified results of state, legislative, and state district party primary elections are filed with the Secretary of State's Office.

NON-PARTISAN ELECTIONS

The elections for Supreme Court Justices, Court of Appeals Judges, Chancery Court Judges, Circuit Court Judges, and County and Family Court Judges are conducted as non-partisan races. Thus, candidates for these offices do not seek nomination in any party primary election and seek election solely as independent candidates. Judicial candidates submit qualifying fees and papers to the proper office by the appropriate qualifying deadline.

GENERAL ELECTIONS

Party nominees, qualified independent candidates, candidates for non-partisan offices, and certain ballot measures like bond issues and constitutional amendments usually appear on general election ballots.

The Secretary of State issues the official "sample ballot" for state, legislative, and state district offices. Local election commissions issue the official "sample ballot" for county and municipal offices.

Usually, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes is elected in the general election. However, run-off elections are held usually three (3) weeks after the general election required for non-partisan judicial offices, certain school board elections, and special elections.

General elections are conducted by county election commissions or municipal election commissions. Voter registrars and the Secretary of State's Office assist in the conduct of elections. Local election commissions file certified election returns with the Secretary of State's Office.

ELECTORAL COLLEGE

Section 140 of the Mississippi Constitution of 1890 states, in order to be elected Governor or to any of the other statewide elected offices, a candidate must receive a majority of the popular vote in the general election and a majority of the electoral vote. However, in the 2020 General Election, voters approved House Concurrent Resolution 47 which removed the requirement that candidates for Governor or any of the other seven statewide elected offices must receive a majority of electoral votes. Candidates for Governor and other statewide elected offices must now only receive a majority of the popular votes in the general election.

The electoral vote totals are determined by state House of Representatives districts. The candidate who receives the most votes in an individual district is awarded the electoral vote for that district. With 122 House Districts in the State, a majority of electoral votes is 62.

The electoral vote for the 2019 General Election is presented below:

STATE OFFICE ELECTORAL VOTE TOTALS

If a candidate does not receive both a majority of the popular vote and a majority of the electoral vote, Section 141 of the Mississippi Constitution provides members of the House of Representatives shall choose the Governor from the two persons who received the highest number of popular vote.

CAMPAIGN FINANCE DISCLOSURE AND ORGANIZATION

Candidates for public office in Mississippi must follow state law regarding disclosure of their political contributions and expenditures. Political committees, groups that raise and donate money on behalf of candidates or balloted measures, also must follow the State's disclosure laws.

Any candidate who spends or receives more than $200.00 in the aggregate must file all required campaign finance reports, even if qualifying papers have not yet been filed. Likewise, any group or political committee which spends or receives more than $200.00 in the aggregate must file all required campaign finance reports and, in addition, must also register their political committee within ten days of receiving or spending more than $200.00.

Candidates for state, state district, and legislative office file campaign finance disclosure reports with the Secretary of State's Office. County and county/district candidates file campaign finance disclosure reports with the appropriate Circuit Clerk's Office, and candidates for municipal office file campaign finance disclosure reports with the appropriate Municipal Clerk's Office.

All judicial candidates, except justice court judges, are required to establish candidate political committees to accept campaign contributions and make expenditures in furtherance of their campaigns. Candidate committees for judges are prohibited from soliciting donations earlier than 60 days before the candidate qualifying deadline and later than 120 days after the last applicable Election Day, according to Canon 5 Code of Judicial Conduct.

Candidates for federal office should contact the Federal Election Commission for campaign finance disclosure requirements.

Campaign Finance Report Requirements:

Five types of campaign finance reports are required of all candidates, candidate's committees, and political committees. These reports are filed at different times.

1. Pre-election reports—Aggregate from January 1 through the 10th day before each election. Due date: the 7th day before any election. Candidates, candidates' political committees file before any election in which the candidates' names are on the ballot, and political committees file before any election in which the candidate or measure supported or opposed by the committee is on the ballot.

2. Periodic reports—Aggregate from January 1 through the due date. Periodic reports are due in gubernatorial and judicial election years. Due dates: May 10, June 10, July 10, October 10, and January 10.

3. Annual reports—Aggregate for the period from January 1 through December 31. Due date: January 31 except following gubernatorial election years, during which periodic reports are filed and judicial candidates in years they file periodic reports.

4. 48 Hour reports—Applies only to candidates. Reportable contributions received after the tenth day, but more than 48 hours before 12:01 a.m. on the Election Day, must be reported to the appropriate office within 48 hours of receipt.

5. Termination reports—May only be filed when contributions are no longer accepted, expenditures are no longer made, no outstanding debts or financial obligations are associated with the candidate or committee and the cash on hand balance is zero. A termination report contains all reportable activity since the last filed report. Unless and until a termination report is filed, every candidate and committee must file every required report.

Political initiative committees supporting or opposing any proposed constitutional initiative must file monthly initiative committee reports with the Secretary of State's Office.

Report Contents:

All reports must include:

1. Aggregated year-to-date totals—Total year-to-date amount of contributions received and expenditures made must be reported by all candidates and committees.

2. Cash on hand—All cash on hand must be reported and carried from year-to-year.

3. Contributions—An itemized listing must be reported of each contributor who has contributed in the aggregate over $200 year-to-date, including name, address, occupation, employer, date of each contribution, amount of each contribution, and year-to-date aggregate contribution.

4. Expenditures—An itemized listing must be reported of each person or entity which has received in the aggregate over $200.00, including name, address, occupation, employer, date of expenditure, amount of expenditure, and year-to-date aggregate expenditures.

Campaign finance disclosure forms may be obtained from the local voter registrar's office, the Secretary of State's Office, or downloaded from the Secretary of State's website at www.sos.ms.gov. Beginning in 2016, campaign finance disclosure forms may be found and filed electronically by all candidates and political committees obligated to file with the Secretary of State's Office.

Statement of Economic Interest:

Candidates for public office must file a "Statement of Economic Interest" with the Mississippi Ethics Commission. The form may be obtained from the Mississippi Ethics Commission.

Technical Assistance:

Candidates, candidate's committees, and political committees are advised to review the appropriate statutes and state laws regarding the regulation and disclosure of campaign finances and other obligations and responsibilities. Miss. Code Ann. § 23-15-801 et seq. (1972).

The information printed in this edition of the Official and Statistical Register regarding voter registration, voting, absentee voting, candidate qualifications, dates of elections, qualifying deadlines, and campaign finance disclosure is subject to change due to legislation or action by the Courts. Always refer to the current language in effect for the appropriate statutes and contact your Circuit Clerk's Office or the Secretary of State's Office before relying on the information in this book.

GOVERNOR
Tate Reeves

As the 65th Governor of Mississippi, Tate Reeves continues to build on his strong record as a conservative leader who fights to guard taxpayers' dollars, improve educational opportunity, and grow new careers so that our state's best and brightest can raise their families and thrive here at home. In his inaugural address, Governor Reeves promised that this would be an administration for all Mississippi. He committed to a mission to create a climate where good careers are plentiful with every Mississippian prepared to pursue them, as he has every single day of his time serving our state.

Upon taking office, Governor Reeves inherited a crumbling corrections department and a scandal-plagued human services department. He took immediate action to stem the existing issues and begin the process of rebuilding, shedding light on the issues and installing the best leadership to help him turn the departments around to work for the people of Mississippi. While tackling the inherited issues within government agencies to provide for the safety and human dignity of all Mississippians, Governor Reeves simultaneously led our state through historic flooding and tornadoes and a worldwide pandemic – all within his first 100 days in office.

Governor Reeves has continued to make history throughout his public service career. When elected in 2003 for his first public office, Governor Reeves became the youngest state treasurer in our country and the first Republican to hold the office in Mississippi. His business training in the banking sector made him our state's foremost advocate for balancing the state budget while minimizing state debt. He was elected in 2011 and re-elected four years later as the 32nd Lieutenant Governor, leading the Mississippi Senate. His conservative management helped fill our state's Rainy Day Fund to over $550 million – the most in state history – and reduce the overall debt burden. He fought for transparency in how agencies spend tax dollars and stronger reporting requirements on taxpayer-funded incentive programs.

His commitment to long-term growth that creates better careers led Governor Reeves to propose the largest tax cut in state history through the Taxpayer Pay Raise Act, lowering the personal income tax and enabling more Mississippi employers to invest in jobs and better compete in the global marketplace. Governor Reeves' upbringing in Florence's public schools made him driven to reform the education system to increase opportunity for all Mississippians. He has worked to increase investment in the classroom and enacted reforms to save money, strengthen achievement, and effectively communicate school performance. His new mission for our state is to give us more national board-certified teachers per capita than any state in the nation.

Governor Reeves remains committed to his inaugural promise to defend the loving culture that underpins our quality of life and grow our economy that lifts all of our families. He has pledged to work every day to make that promise a reality for all Mississippi. A Rankin County native, Governor Reeves is a graduate of Florence High School and an honors graduate of Millsaps College, where he earned a bachelor's degree in economics. He holds the Chartered Financial Analyst designation.

Governor Reeves and his wife, Elee, are the proud parents of three daughters, Tyler, Emma, and Maddie.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR
Delbert Hosemann

Elected in November 2019 with more than 60 percent of the vote, the Honorable Delbert Hosemann is serving as Mississippi's 33rd Lieutenant Governor. He previously served as Secretary of State. Lt. Governor Hosemann is committed to serving the public with open and fair government. He advocates for increasing State government transparency, growing small businesses, shoring up Mississippi's roads and bridges, providing better access to healthcare, and ensuring every child receives a high-quality education. As the President of the 52-member State Senate, he remains committed to making Mississippi an even better place for our children and grandchildren.

Beginning his tenure amidst the global COVID-19 pandemic, the Mississippi Legislature appropriated $1.25 billion in federal relief funds to purchase personal protective equipment, create a small business grant program, expand broadband to rural communities, and increase ICU-bed capacity. The Legislature limited liability for businesses and healthcare entities related to COVID-19 exposure. Under his leadership, the Senate has consolidated workforce development efforts, increased training opportunities for high-skill jobs, and retooled economic development incentives to be competitive and performance-based. In two years, the Legislature has doubled its investment in pre-K, raised teacher pay, increased funding for classroom supplies, and provided every student with a computer or tablet. Legislators also respectfully retired the state flag and allowed citizens to vote on a new design.

Raised in Warren County, Mississippi, Lt. Governor Hosemann comes to the position with substantial experience in the private sector as a businessman and tax lawyer. He is a former partner of Phelps Dunbar, LLP. He received his undergraduate degree in Business from the University of Notre Dame, a law degree from the University of Mississippi, and a Master of Laws in Taxation from New York University. Prior to attending law school, Lt. Governor Hosemann served his country in the United States Army Reserve. Lt. Governor Hosemann's tenure as Secretary of State was marked by several major accomplishments, including requiring 16th Section land, a revenue source for public schools, to be leased for fair value. By the end of his third term, the Office raised more than $1 billion for public education. He was also instrumental in acquiring over 20,000 acres of now public land.

As Secretary of State, Lt. Governor Hosemann revised Mississippi's business laws, automated legal filings, and fought to enact a constitutional Voter ID law. While other states are still embroiled in expensive litigation related to Voter ID, Mississippi's law has increased security in elections and remains unchallenged. Lt. Governor Hosemann also advocated to provide better access to health insurance for children with autism and other developmental disorders. Autism Speaks, the nation's leading autism science and advocacy organization, named Lt. Governor Hosemann Executive of the Year in 2018.

In his spare time, Lt. Governor Hosemann is an avid hunter and runner. He belongs to the National Rifle Association and is a past recipient of the NRA's Kirk Fordice Freedom Award. He is also a member of the Delta Wildlife Foundation and Ducks Unlimited. He has completed both the New York Marathon and the Boston Marathon. He and Lynn, his wife of 50 years, are members of St. Richard Catholic Church. They are extremely proud of their three children: Kristen, Chad, and Mark; and grandchildren Grace, Nora Lynn, Carson, Charlie, Manse, Charlotte, and Howard Delbert.

SECRETARY OF STATE

Michael Watson

Secretary of State Michael David Watson, Jr., was born and raised in Mississippi. He is a husband to his loving wife, Lauren, father of three beautiful young daughters, the son of a shipyard worker and bank teller. After his work as a pipefitter, Michael's father entered the ministry and continues to serve as pastor at Liberty Church in Gautier. His mother passed away shortly before Michael became Mississippi's 36th Secretary of State. A graduate of Pascagoula High School and the University of Mississippi, where he earned a Bachelor of Business Administration degree and a law degree, Michael began his work in public service in the summer of 1999, serving as an intern for then-U.S. Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott. That experience strengthened his desire to one day enter public service in order to improve the quality of life for all Mississippians.

Prior to taking office as Secretary of State in January 2020, Michael served three terms in the State Senate, where he represented District 51 in Jackson County. He authored the Fetal Protection Act, which strengthened the penalties for injuring an unborn child. He also wrote Mississippi's first comprehensive law to tackle illegal immigration, as well as legislation to allow alternate-track diplomas – one of the first efforts to return a focus to career and technical training for high school students. More of Michael's proposals came to fruition in the State Senate, including the Catastrophe Savings Accounts and the Equal Opportunity for Students with Special Needs Act. In addition, former Governor Phil Bryant asked Michael to introduce the legislation adding "In God We Trust" to our state seal. During his time in the State Senate, Michael became known as a conservative fighter for his work to preserve Mississippians' rights and religious liberties and to limit government overreach and spending. Michael brings these same conservative principles to the Secretary of State's Office.

As Secretary of State, Michael is focused on protecting the integrity of our elections by emphasizing the importance of clean voter rolls and continuing strong enforcement of Mississippi's Voter ID law. Since taking office, he's fought to push legislation to ensure only United States citizens are registered to vote in Mississippi. Michael is also dedicated to bringing about a more efficient and effective state government by working to reduce regulations and red tape so small businesses can grow and flourish in a free market economy. During his first year as Secretary of State, he launched the Tackle the Tape initiative, which aims to help increase economic opportunities for all Mississippians by promoting competition and encouraging innovation and job growth.

As a native of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, Michael understands the importance of properly managing Tidelands and other public lands. He is committed to keeping the decisions in the hands of local officials as much as allowed by law while monitoring these decisions to ensure Mississippians receive fair value. During his time in the private sector, Michael opened his own firm where he focused on business law, construction law, and probate law. He is a member of the National Rifle Association (NRA), the American Council of Young Political Leaders, the Mississippi Bar Association, the Ole Miss Alumni Association, and the Ole Miss Hall of Fame. He and his family spend time volunteering with the American Heart Association, American Cancer Society, and the Dream Program. As a dedicated family man, Michael and his wife, Lauren, have three daughters – Gracie Pierce, Annie, and Cora Elizabeth. The Watsons are members of First Presbyterian Church in Pascagoula and enjoy visiting church families all over Mississippi.

Article 4 of the Mississippi Constitution of 1890 creates a House of Representatives and a Senate jointly vested with lawmaking authority as well as the power of the purse, a provision that no money can be spent from the State's treasury unless the Legislature passes a law to do so.

THE MISSISSIPPI LEGISLATURE

The 1890 Mississippi Constitution places sole law-making authority in the bi-cameral Legislature, which also has the power of the purse, a constitutional provision stipulating no money can be spent from the State's treasury unless the Legislature passes a law to do so. The Senate exercises advice and consent over appointments made by the Governor. The power of impeachment is vested solely in the House; the power to try impeachment lies in the Senate. The House has the duty to elect the Governor if no candidate receives a majority of both the popular vote and the electoral vote in the general election. There are 52 members of the Senate and 122 members of the House of Representatives.

Officers: The President and presiding officer of the Senate is the Lieutenant Governor; the second in command is the President Pro Tempore. The presiding officer of the House of Representatives is the Speaker of the House, a State Representative who is elected to the position by House members. The Speaker Pro Tempore is the second-ranking Representative.

Terms and Sessions: Legislators are administered the oath of office by the Secretary of State on the first day of the regular session of the year following election. The Constitution requires the Legislature to convene yearly on the Tuesday after the first Monday in January.

Volume of Legislation: During each regular session, the Legislature sends to the Governor more than 500 bills to be signed into law. Frequently, more than 100 of those bills involve the finance of state government (appropriations).

The Secretary of State's Office assigns chapter numbers to the bills, distributes copies according to law, publishes all bills in the General Laws volumes, and certifies the bills for legal proceedings as requested.

Rules: The Constitution stipulates that bills may originate in either chamber of the Legislature. It empowers each chamber to determine its own rules of procedure, although each is prohibited from adjourning for more than three days without the consent of the other chamber. Adjourning to places other than the House and Senate chambers is prohibited as well.

Each body adopts its own rules, although joint rules are adopted to govern legislative procedures that affect the orderly flow of bills between the houses.

Length of Session: The Constitution provides for legislative sessions to last no more than 90 days except for the first session of a new term, which may not exceed 125 days. Sessions may be extended by a two-thirds vote in both houses. When needed, the Governor may call a special session with a specific legislative focus. Numerous legislative committees also work between sessions on a wide variety of proposals. In addition, individual legislators often use the interim months to research and prepare bills for the next session. Members also work to help the citizens they represent.

Accountability: All proceedings in Senate and House journals are published by the Secretary of State. Moreover, the Constitution requires the doors of each chamber shall be open "except in cases which may require secrecy."

Redistricting: The Constitution requires the Legislature to draw new, contiguous state legislative districts every ten years to reflect changes in population. No more than 52 Senatorial Districts and 122 House of Representative Districts are allowed. The Mississippi Legislature is also charged with the responsibility of drawing districts for the U.S. House of Representatives following each census. If the Legislature does not adopt the new legislative districts in the time allowed by the Constitution, a five-member commission consisting of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court as chairman, the Attorney General, the Secretary of State, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate must do so. Miss. Const. of 1890, Art. XIII, § 254. Miss. Code Ann. § 5-3-81 et seq. (1972).

JOINT RULES FOR LEGISLATION

*Appropriation, revenue, and local and private bills, and bills to restore suffrage are excluded from these deadlines. For purposes of the deadlines herein set forth, the term "revenue bills" shall include only those bills whose primary purpose is to increase or decrease taxes or to authorize the issuance of bonds or the borrowing of money. Bills which are primarily for regulatory purposes which have revenue provisions included shall not be considered as revenue bills for deadline purposes. The deletion from a bill of the features which made it a revenue bill shall render the bill a general bill for deadline purposes.

Conference reports on all bills must be filed with the Secretary/Clerk no later than the time of adjournment on the day prior to being called up and considered. Appropriation bills which are actually appropriate money and are recommitted for further conference are excluded from the requirement that the subsequent conference report be filed and lay on table one (1) day before being considered; however, original action must be taken on all appropriation conference reports by 2:00 p.m. on the 84th/119th day and subsequent reports must be filed no later than 6:00 p.m.

Requests for general bills and constitutional amendments to be drafted must be made no later than 8:00 p.m. on the 9th/45th day. The Rules Committee of the House or Senate, as the case may be, may authorize any member of its respective house to make requests, for one or more general bills or constitutional to be drafted, after the expiration of the deadline for making such drafting requests but before the deadline for introduction of bills and constitutional amendments, upon a determination by the Rules Committee that such drafting requests are in response to conditions of an emergency nature arising subsequent to the deadline for making requests for general bills and constitutional amendments to be drafted.

+Committee reports and conference reports that are subject to being filed on these deadlines must be filed with the Secretary/Clerk no later than 8:00 p.m.

Whenever the word "day" appears in these rules, it shall mean calendar day.

The above schedule shall not be deviated from except by the passage of a concurrent resolution adopted by a vote of two-thirds (2/3) of the membership of the House and Senate present and voting.

HOW A BILL BECOMES A LAW

Drafting and Introduction. A bill must first be drafted in paper form. Legislative research and drafting offices are operated on a year-round basis in both the House and the Senate to assist the members with the necessary research and legal work involved in drafting bills in correct form.

Since the advent of annual sessions, a system of pre-filing has been instituted in both Houses. This means that bills may be written and introduced on an unofficial basis in the interim between sessions. For all practical purposes, the pre-filed bills are treated in the same manner as bills introduced when the Legislature is actually in session. At the time a member signifies that a bill is to be filed, it is placed on the Speaker's/President's desk for referral to Committee and, after referral, is given a number which it will retain throughout the legislative process. When the session convenes, the pre-filed bills are introduced officially into the records. Bills introduced after the session convenes are dropped into the "hopper" at the Clerk's/Secretary's desk. Bills must be typewritten on legal-sized paper, double-spaced, with the title and name of author or authors on the outside and must be introduced in original form.

Referred to Committee. Each bill is referred to one or more of the standing committees in the House or Senate for study and recommendation. In the regular order of business, the bills are read by title and number, and the committee to which it has been referred is announced. All bills are listed on a daily introduction list, entered in the bill docket and committee books, and copies are reproduced. The bill itself is placed in a jacket and put into the committee box.

Reported by Committee. The committee to which a bill has been referred reports its recommendations to the House or Senate. It may report the bill "Do Pass," "Do Pass As Amended," "Committee Substitute Do Pass," or it may report the bill "Do Not Pass," which has the effect of killing the bill unless a Minority Report is filed within three days by one or more of the members of the committee who were present at the meeting at which the bill was reported.

If a bill has not been reported by a committee after reference, a motion to withdraw the bill may be filed. When a bill has been reported favorably by a committee, it is placed on the calendar for House or Senate action. Separate divisions of the calendar are kept for bills reported by the appropriations, revenue, and local and private committees. Appropriations and Revenue bills have precedence over bills on the General Calendar.

The Legislature operates under a system of deadlines which sets the limits of time in which bills may be introduced, reported from Committee, acted upon originally in each House, amendments considered from the other House, and Conference Reports adopted. The deadlines are for the purpose of assuring an orderly flow of legislative action within the 90-day constitutional limitation of sessions. The first session of each administration has a limitation of 125 days, and the deadlines are adjusted for the additional time.

Consideration by House/Senate. When a bill comes up in its regular order on the calendar, it is usually called up and handled on the chamber floor by the Chairman of the Committee to which it has been referred. The bill is read and debated by the House or Senate, and, at this time, amendments may be proposed and either adopted or rejected. Other possible actions may be taken at this time — the bill may be recommitted to the committee for further study; it may be laid on the table, subject to call; it may be set for special order; or postponed to another date for action. An amendment to strike all after the enacting clause, if adopted, would kill the bill, or if a motion carried to indefinitely postpone the bill, it would be dead.

The Vote. A quorum must be present for the vote on the final passage of any measure. Bills of a general nature require a majority of those present and voting for passage; appropriation bills require a majority of the elected membership; revenue bills require a three-fifths majority of those present and voting; bills restoring suffrage or bills granting a donation or gratuity to any person require two-thirds of the elected membership. Adoption of Conference Reports or concurrence in Senate or House amendments require the same vote as was required for the original passage of the bill. After passage of a bill, it is subject to reconsideration for one whole legislative day. After the time has passed for reconsideration, any amendments that were adopted are engrossed into the bill, which is then sent to the other House.

House/Senate Action. When a bill reaches the other House, it goes through the same process of referral to Committee, report by Committee, and floor action. If a bill passes the other House without amendment, it is returned to the House of origin, enrolled, signed by the Speaker and the Lieutenant Governor, and presented to the Governor. If the other House adopts amendments to the bill, the bill and the accompanying amendments are returned to the House of origin, and the bill is placed on the calendar for concurrence or non-concurrence in the amendments of the other House. Should one House concur, the other is notified, the bill is engrossed, enrolled, and presented to the Governor. If one House declines to concur in the amendments of the other, it may request a conference to work out the differences between the two Houses. A conference committee is composed of three members from each House, and if the report of the conference committee is adopted by both Houses, the bill is engrossed, enrolled, and presented to the Governor.

Governor's Action. The Governor must either approve a bill or return it with objections to the House of its origin within five days (except Sundays) or it becomes law without his signature. (If the Legislature adjourns before the five days have expired, the Governor then has 15 days for consideration of the bill.) When a bill has been vetoed, the objections of the Governor are spread at large upon the Journal, it is reconsidered, and, if two-thirds of those present and voting vote in favor of the bill, it is forwarded to the other House. If two-thirds of that House vote in favor of its passage over the Governor's veto, the bill then becomes a law.

The above steps in the passage of a bill are a simplified example of the parliamentary procedure involved in legislation. The process seems very complex, but a knowledge of the rules and procedures and actual experience in observing a legislature in action help in understanding that the rules and procedures are to provide thorough study and debate of measures before they become law.

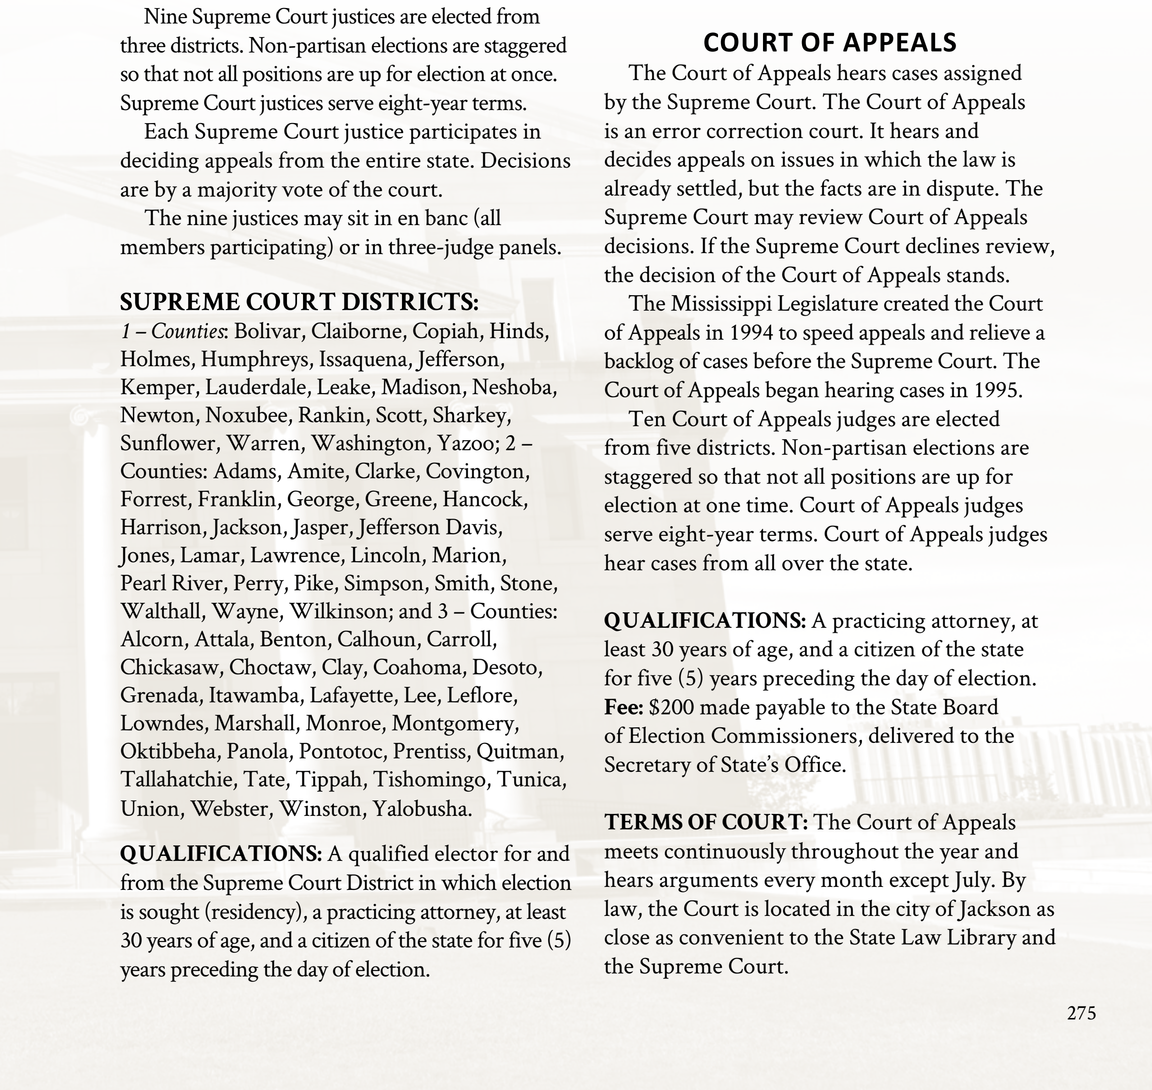
MISSISSIPPI COURT SYSTEM

www.courts.ms.gov

Mississippi has a two-tier appellate court system that reviews decisions of law and fact made by the trial courts. The state's trial court system consists of two general jurisdiction courts (circuit and chancery) and three limited jurisdiction courts (county, justice, and municipal).



SUPREME COURT

The Mississippi Supreme Court is the court of last resort among state courts. Decisions of the Chancery, Circuit and County Courts and of the Court of Appeals may be appealed to the Supreme Court. Appeals which go directly to the Supreme Court include annexations, bond issues, constitutionality challenges, death penalty cases, disciplinary matters involving attorneys and judges, election contests, certified questions from federal court, utility rates, cases of first impression, and issues of broad public interest.

Nine Supreme Court justices are elected from three districts. Non-partisan elections are staggered so that not all positions are up for election at once. Supreme Court justices serve eight-year terms.

Each Supreme Court justice participates in deciding appeals from the entire state. Decisions are by a majority vote of the court.

The nine justices may sit in en banc (all members participating) or in three-judge panels.

SUPREME COURT DISTRICTS:
1 – Counties: Bolivar, Claiborne, Copiah, Hinds, Holmes, Humphreys, Issaquena, Jefferson, Kemper, Lauderdale, Leake, Madison, Neshoba, Newton, Noxubee, Rankin, Scott, Sharkey, Sunflower, Warren, Washington, Yazoo; 2 – Counties: Adams, Amite, Clarke, Covington, Forrest, Franklin, George, Greene, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Jasper, Jefferson Davis, Jones, Lamar, Lawrence, Lincoln, Marion, Pearl River, Perry, Pike, Simpson, Smith, Stone, Walthall, Wayne, Wilkinson; and 3 – Counties: Alcorn, Attala, Benton, Calhoun, Carroll, Chickasaw, Choctaw, Clay, Coahoma, Desoto, Grenada, Itawamba, Lafayette, Lee, Leflore, Lowndes, Marshall, Monroe, Montgomery, Oktibbeha, Panola, Pontotoc, Prentiss, Quitman, Tallahatchie, Tate, Tippah, Tishomingo, Tunica, Union, Webster, Winston, Yalobusha.

COURT OF APPEALS

The Court of Appeals hears cases assigned by the Supreme Court. The Court of Appeals is an error correction court. It hears and decides appeals on issues in which the law is already settled, but the facts are in dispute. The Supreme Court may review Court of Appeals decisions. If the Supreme Court declines review, the decision of the Court of Appeals stands.

The Mississippi Legislature created the Court of Appeals in 1994 to speed appeals and relieve a backlog of cases before the Supreme Court. The Court of Appeals began hearing cases in 1995.

Ten Court of Appeals judges are elected from five districts. Non-partisan elections are staggered so that not all positions are up for election at one time. Court of Appeals judges serve eight-year terms. Court of Appeals judges hear cases from all over the state.

QUALIFICATIONS: A practicing attorney, at least 30 years of age, and a citizen of the state for five (5) years preceding the day of election.
Fee: $200 made payable to the State Board of Election Commissioners, delivered to the Secretary of State's Office.

TERMS OF COURT: The Court of Appeals meets continuously throughout the year and hears arguments every month except July. By law, the Court is located in the city of Jackson as close as convenient to the State Law Library and the Supreme Court.

CIRCUIT COURTS

Circuit Courts hear felony criminal prosecutions and civil lawsuits. Mississippi's 22 Circuit Courts have original jurisdiction over all civil and criminal matters not vested exclusively in another court. Circuit Courts also hear appeals from County, Justice, and Municipal courts and from administrative boards and commissions such as the Mississippi Department of Employment Security.

There are 22 Circuit Court districts and 57 Circuit Court judges. Circuit Court judges are selected in non-partisan elections to serve four-year terms. Most Circuit Court trials are heard with a 12-member jury and usually one or two alternate jurors. A judge may preside without a jury if the dispute is a question of law rather than fact. Circuit judges have the power to issue extraordinary writs.

QUALIFICATIONS: A practicing attorney for five (5) years, at least 26 years of age, and a citizen of the state for five (5) years.
Fee: $100 made payable to the State Board of Election Commissioners, delivered to the Secretary of State's Office.

TERMS OF COURT: Each year, the circuit court judges issue orders establishing the commencement and continuation of terms of court no later than October 1. If no order is issued, then the court term remains unchanged from the previous year. This information is posted at each courthouse and is published annually by the Secretary of State in the Judiciary Directory and Court Calendar.

CHANCERY COURTS

Chancery Courts have jurisdiction over disputes in matters involving equity; domestic matters including adoptions, custody disputes and divorces; guardianships; sanity hearings; wills; and challenges to constitutionality of state laws. Land records are filed in Chancery Court. The Chancery Courts' jurisdiction over equity matters involving less than $200,000 is concurrent with County Courts.

Chancery Courts have jurisdiction over juvenile matters in counties which have no County Court. The chancellor may appoint a lawyer in private practice to sit as a youth court referee to hear juvenile matters such as delinquency, abuse, and neglect.

Trials are typically heard by a chancellor without a jury, although state law allows parties to request a jury in Chancery Court.

There are 20 Chancery Court districts and 52 Chancery Court judges. Chancery Court judges are selected in non-partisan elections to serve four-year terms.

QUALIFICATIONS: A practicing attorney for five (5) years, at least 26 years of age, and a citizen of the state for five (5) years.
Fee: $100 made payable to the State Board of Election Commissioners, delivered to the Secretary of State's Office.

TERMS OF COURT: Each year, chancellors issue orders establishing the commencement and continuation of terms of court no later than October 1. If no order is issued, then the court term remains unchanged from the previous year. This information is posted at each courthouse and is published by the Secretary of State in the Judiciary Directory and Court Calendar.

COUNTY COURTS

County Courts have exclusive jurisdiction over eminent domain proceedings and juvenile matters. In counties which have a County Court, a County Court judge also serves as the Youth Court judge. County Courts share jurisdiction with Circuit and Chancery Courts in some civil matters. The jurisdictional limit of County Courts is up to $200,000. County Courts may handle non-capital felony cases transferred from Circuit Court. County Court judges may issue search warrants, set bond, and preside over preliminary hearings. County Courts have concurrent jurisdiction with Justice Courts in all matters, civil and criminal.

Mississippi has 22 County Courts and 30 County Court judges. Counties which have a County Court include Adams, Bolivar, Coahoma, DeSoto, Forrest, Hancock, Harrison, Hinds, Jackson, Jones, Lamar, Lauderdale, Lee, Leflore, Lowndes, Madison, Pearl River, Pike, Rankin, Warren, Washington, and Yazoo.

County Court judges serve four-year terms. Elections are non-partisan.

QUALIFICATIONS: A qualified elector for and from the county court district (residency), at least 26 years old, a practicing attorney for five (5) years, and a citizen of the state for five (5) years preceding the election.
Fee: $15 made payable to county Circuit Clerk.

TERMS OF COURT: County Court usually begins the second Monday of each month, unless a special order is entered by the court to extend the term, or, in the case of some counties with two courthouses, the law provides special terms of court for each courthouse.

JUSTICE COURTS

Justice Courts have jurisdiction over small claims civil cases involving amounts of $3,500 or less, misdemeanor criminal cases, and any traffic offense that occurs outside a municipality. Justice Court judges may conduct bond hearings and preliminary hearings in felony criminal cases and may issue search warrants.

There are 82 Justice Courts with 197 judges. Each county is divided into justice court districts, the number determined by population. Justice Court judges are the only Mississippi judges elected in partisan races. They serve four-year terms.

QUALIFICATIONS: A qualified elector, a resident of the county for two (2) years preceding the day of election, a high school graduate or its equivalent, and complete a course of training required by law within six (6) months of the beginning of the term of office.
Fee for party candidates: $100 made payable to the appropriate county executive committee via Circuit Clerk.
Fee for independent candidates: $100 paid to the county via the Circuit Clerk and petition filed with the Circuit Clerk containing signatures of not less than 15 qualified electors of the district.

TERMS OF COURT: Justice Court judges hold regular terms of their courts, at such times as they may appoint, but no more than two and not less than one term in every month.

MUNICIPAL COURTS

Municipal courts have jurisdiction over misdemeanor crimes, municipal ordinances and city traffic violations. Municipal judges may conduct initial appearances in which defendants are advised of the charges being filed, as well as bond hearings and preliminary hearings.

There are 237 Municipal Courts. Most municipalities have one judge, although a few jurisdictions have several.

Most municipal judges are appointed by governing bodies of municipalities. Terms of office vary. Miss. Code Ann. § 21-23-1 (1972).

CIRCUIT COURT JUDGES

Circuit Courts hear felony criminal prosecutions and civil lawsuits. Circuit Courts hear appeals from County, Justice, and Municipal courts and from administrative boards and commissions such as the Workers' Compensation Commission and the Mississippi Department of Employment Security.

There are 22 Circuit Court districts and 57 Circuit Court judges. The number of Circuit judges per district ranges from one to four. Circuit Court judges are selected in non-partisan elections to serve four-year terms.

Trials are heard with a 12-member jury and usually one or two alternate jurors. A judge may preside without a jury if the dispute is a question of law rather than fact.

CHANCERY COURT JUDGES

Chancery Courts have jurisdiction over disputes in matters involving equity; domestic matters including adoptions, custody disputes, and divorces; guardianships; sanity hearings; wills; and challenges to constitutionality of state laws. Land records are filed in Chancery Court.

Chancery Courts have jurisdiction over juvenile matters in counties which have no County Court. The chancellor may appoint a lawyer in private practice to sit as a youth court referee to hear juvenile matters such as delinquency, abuse and neglect.

Trials are typically heard by a chancellor without a jury, although state law allows parties to request a jury in Chancery Court.

There are 20 Chancery Court districts and 52 Chancery Court judges. The number of chancery judges per district ranges from one to four. Chancery Court judges are selected in non-partisan elections to serve four-year terms.

COUNTY COURT JUDGES

County Courts have exclusive jurisdiction over eminent domain proceedings and juvenile matters, among other things. In counties which have a County Court, a County Court judge also serves as the Youth Court judge. County Courts share jurisdiction with Circuit and Chancery Courts in some civil matters. The jurisdictional limit of County Courts is up to $200,000. County Courts may handle non-capital felony cases transferred from Circuit Court. County Court judges may issue search warrants, set bond and preside over preliminary hearings. County Courts have concurrent jurisdiction with Justice Courts in all matters, civil and criminal.

Mississippi has 22 County Courts and 30 County Court judges. Counties which have a County Court include Adams, Bolivar, Coahoma, DeSoto, Forrest, Hancock, Harrison, Hinds, Jackson, Jones, Lamar, Lauderdale, Lee, Leflore, Lowndes, Madison, Pearl River, Pike, Rankin, Warren, Washington, and Yazoo. County Court judges serve four-year terms. Elections are non-partisan.

JUSTICE COURT JUDGES

Justice Courts have jurisdiction over small claims civil cases involving amounts of $3,500 or less, misdemeanor criminal cases and any traffic offense that occurs outside a municipality. Justice Court judges may conduct bond hearings and preliminary hearings in felony criminal cases and may issue search warrants.

There are 82 Justice Courts with 197 judges. Justice Court judges are the only Mississippi judges elected in partisan races. They serve four-year terms.

INTERVENTION COURTS

Intervention courts include drug, veterans, and mental health courts. These special courts are authorized by Mississippi Code §§ 9-23-1 — 9-23-51, Intervention Courts; Mississippi Code § 9-25-1, Veterans Treatment Courts; and Mississippi Code §§ 9-27-1 — 9-27-21, the Rivers McGraw Mental Health Diversion Program Act.

Drug intervention courts address crimes committed by persons with drug and alcohol addiction along with other co-occurring disorders. Drug intervention courts seek to rehabilitate offenders through treatment and intense supervision that includes random substance testing. Drug intervention courts operate in every Circuit Court district as well as in some Youth Courts and a few Chancery Courts, Justice Courts and Municipal Courts. Mississippi's first felony drug intervention court began in 1999.

In authorizing creation of veterans treatment courts, the Legislature recognized that in their service to our country, many military veterans may have suffered post-traumatic stress disorder, traumatic brain injury and depression, and may also suffer drug and alcohol dependency or addiction and co-occurring mental illness and substance abuse problems. As a result of this, some veterans come into contact with the criminal justice system and are charged with felony offenses. Circuit Courts are authorized to create veteran's treatment courts to provide special treatment and supervision while also providing accountability for wrongdoing.

The Legislature authorized creation of mental health courts to establish court processes and procedures that are more responsive to the needs of defendants with mental illnesses, while maintaining public safety and the integrity of the court process. The goal of the mental health courts is to support effective and proven practices that reduce recidivism and provide treatment for participants.

Intervention courts seek to improve education, employment, housing, and financial stability; promote family reunification; reduce foster care placements when applicable; and increase the rate of mothers with substance use disorders delivering fully drug-free babies. Intervention courts recognize addiction as a disease and offer compassionate treatment. These special courts lead people living with substance abuse and mental health disorders out of the justice system and into lives of recovery and stability.

YOUTH COURTS

The Youth Courts deal with matters involving abuse and neglect of juveniles, as well as offenses committed by juveniles. Young people who have not reached the age of 18 may be subject to the Youth Court, although there are some exceptions. Some offenses which would be treated as crimes if committed by adults are known as delinquent acts when they involve juveniles.

In the 22 counties which have a County Court, those judges also serve as Youth Court judges. In counties which do not have a County Court, the Chancery Judge may hear Youth Court matters, or the Chancery Judge may appoint a lawyer to act in a judicial capacity as Youth Court Referee. The city of Pearl also has its own municipal Youth Court.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

The federal government is composed of three distinct branches: legislative, executive, and judicial, which powers are vested by the U.S. Constitution in Congress, the President, and the federal courts, including the Supreme Court, respectively. The powers and duties of these branches are further defined by acts of Congress, including the creation of executive departments and courts inferior to the Supreme Court.

EXECUTIVE BRANCH

The executive branch of the government is responsible for enforcing the laws of the land. The president, vice president, department heads (cabinet members), and heads of independent agencies carry out this mission.

JUDICIAL BRANCH

Courts decide arguments about the meaning of laws and how they are applied. They also decide if laws violate the Constitution—an authority known as judicial review. This authority is how federal courts provide checks and balances on the legislative and executive branches.

LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

Article I of the Constitution establishes the legislative or law-making branch of government. It has a bi-cameral Congress—the U.S. Senate and the U.S. House of Representatives.

CONGRESS

Congress assembles at least once every year, beginning on the first Monday of December, in the U.S. Capitol building in Washington, D.C.

Powers granted to Congress by the Constitution include imposing and collecting taxes, paying the national debt, regulating international and interstate commerce, establishing military forces, sitting in tribunals inferior to the Supreme Court, and providing for the common defense and general welfare of the United States.

THE SENATE

Each state is represented by two senators who are elected to six-year, staggered terms. Each senator represents his or her entire state. Reserved to the Senate are the powers of trying all impeachments and reviewing all presidential appointments requiring Senate approval. The Vice President of the United States is President of the Senate, but only votes in case of a tie.

Senators must be at least 30 years of age, a citizen of the United States for nine years and an inhabitant of the state he or she represents. Senators serve a six-year term without term limits.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The House of Representatives is composed of members chosen every second year to represent the congressional districts of his or her state. Each state's number of congressional districts is determined by population, with the total membership of the House of Representatives set at 435. Reserved to the House of Representatives is the origination of bills to raise revenue and the sole power of impeachment. The House of Representatives is led by a Speaker who is chosen by the members.

Representatives must be at least 25 years of age, citizens of the United States for seven years, and inhabitants of the state they represent. Representatives serve a two-year term without term limits.

United States Senator

ROGER WICKER

Roger F. Wicker has represented Mississippi in the United States Senate since December 2007. During his time in the Senate, Wicker has championed pro-growth policies to create jobs, limit federal overreach, protect life, and maintain a strong national defense.

Wicker is the ranking member of the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation for the 117th Congress. He served as chairman of the full committee during the 116th Congress.

Wicker is the second-highest ranking Republican member of the Senate Armed Services Committee. His other committee assignments include the Environment and Public Works Committee and the Rules and Administration Committee.

Wicker is the ranking member of the U.S. Helsinki Commission and Vice President of the OSCE's Parliamentary Assembly. Wicker also serves as a member of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy Congressional Board of Visitors.

In the 115th Congress, Wicker authored the "Securing the Homeland by Increasing our Power on the Seas (SHIPS) Act," which made it the policy of the United States to achieve the Navy's requirement for a 355-ship fleet. This legislation was signed into law by President Trump as part of the National Defense Authorization Act.

Senator Wicker has been a strong advocate for economic development initiatives to help keep Mississippians competitive in a global marketplace. He has been honored by the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) for his work on pro-growth, pro-manufacturing policies in Congress.

Senator Wicker has actively supported cancer survivorship programs and efforts to fight heart disease, diabetes, childhood obesity, and Alzheimer's. He has been recognized as a "champion" of polio eradication for his work to wipe out polio worldwide. Senator Wicker is also the co-founder of the Senate Malaria and Neglected Tropical Disease Caucus.

He has been instrumental in bringing more research funding to Mississippi universities for a wide range of health-related projects to fight disease and improve quality of life. Most notably, Wicker authored the Muscular Dystrophy Community Assistance, Research, and Education (MD CARE) Act of 2001, which created NIH centers of excellence to coordinate and enhance muscular dystrophy research. The Wicker Project at Children's National Medical Center is a leader in muscular dystrophy research.

Prior to his service in the Senate, Wicker was elected seven times, beginning in 1994, to represent Mississippi's First Congressional District in the House of Representatives. Before being elected to Congress, he served in the state Senate on behalf of Lee and Pontotoc counties.

Senator Wicker served on active duty in the U.S. Air Force and then joined the Air Force Reserve. He retired from the Reserve in 2004 with the rank of lieutenant colonel. A native of Pontotoc, Mississippi, the Senator is the son of former Circuit Judge

Fred Wicker and the late Mrs. Wordna Wicker. He was educated in the public schools of Pontotoc and received his B.A. and law degrees from the University of Mississippi. Wicker is a member of the First Baptist Church Tupelo, where he served as chairman of the deacons, taught Sunday School, and where he still sings in the choir.

Senator Wicker is married to the former Gayle Long of Tupelo. They have three children: Margaret and son-in-law Manning McPhillips; Caroline and son-in-law Kirk Sims; and McDaniel Wicker and his wife, Kellee; and seven grandchildren: Caroline, Henry, Maury Beth, and Virginia McPhillips; Evelyn and Joseph Sims; and Philippa Wicker.

United States Senator

CINDY HYDE-SMITH

U.S. Senator Cindy Hyde-Smith, a public servant committed to conservative principles, is the first woman elected to represent Mississippi in Washington, D.C. She won a six-year term in November 2020, following her April 2018 appointment to fill the U.S. Senate seat vacated by long-time Senator Thad Cochran and subsequent November 2018 special election victory to complete his term.

In the 117th Congress, Hyde-Smith serves on the Appropriations Committee, the Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry Committee, the Energy and Natural Resources Committee, and the Rules and Administration Committee.

As senator, Hyde-Smith is using the legislative process to improve the overall quality of life for all Mississippians, using her committee assignments to support policies and legislation to benefit the state and nation.

The first bill she introduced as a senator—the Migratory Bird Framework and Hunting Opportunities for Veterans Act to extend duck season to January 31 and establish a special weekend for youth, veterans, and active military—became law in March 2019 as part of a larger package.

On the Senate Appropriations Committee, Hyde-Smith has used her subcommittee positions and influence to benefit Mississippians. The 12 annual appropriations bills she assisted in crafting for fiscal years 2019-2021 have supported funding for: shipbuilding on the Gulf Coast; Mississippi's strong defense and aerospace sectors; Mississippi agriculture; rural broadband and health care; and border security, among other priority issues.

On the Senate Agriculture Committee, Hyde-Smith influenced the 2018 Farm Bill, which included provisions she authored pertaining to rural economic development, crop insurance for flood-prone regions, chronic wasting disease research, and forest health.

In early 2019, Hyde-Smith reinitiated the effort to address the catastrophic flooding in the Yazoo Backwater Area by securing commitments from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Environmental Protection Agency to revisit the previously vetoed project. Hyde-Smith secured funding for the Corps to complete environmental review of a new Proposed Plan for the Yazoo Area Pump Project and to carry out pre-construction project engineering and related activities.

With the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic, Hyde-Smith established herself as a leader in helping to secure billions in funding for rural hospitals to address the coronavirus and to expand telehealth for Medicare beneficiaries. She also worked to secure support for agriculture producers, food banks, and small businesses.

Hyde-Smith has a strong social conservative voting record. She received an A+ rating for pro-life leadership from the Susan B. Anthony List. She is also a lifetime member of the NRA.

Prior to becoming a U.S. Senator, Hyde-Smith served as the Mississippi Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce, elected in 2011 and reelected in 2015.

Before leading the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, Hyde-Smith served 12 years in the Mississippi State Senate, including eight years as chairman of the Agriculture Committee.

As a U.S. Senator, Hyde-Smith has received the Award for Conservative Achievement from the American Conservative Union Foundation and the Spirit of Enterprise Award from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. Hyde-Smith also received numerous awards and honors for her work as a state legislator and champion of agriculture.

Hyde-Smith is a graduate of Copiah-Lincoln Community College and the University of Southern Mississippi.

Hyde-Smith, her husband, Mike, and daughter, Anna-Michael, reside in Brookhaven. The Senator's family raises beef cattle and are partners in a Brookhaven stockyard auction market. They are active members of Macedonia Baptist Church.

United States Congressman
Second District

BENNIE THOMPSON

Born in a state with a unique history of racial inequality, Congressman Bennie G. Thompson draws inspiration from the legacies of Medgar Evers, Fannie Lou Hamer, Aaron Henry, and Henry Kirksey. The Bolton, Mississippi native considers it an honor to walk the path Mississippi civil rights icons paved decades ago.

Serving his 13th term in the United States House of Representatives, Thompson represents Mississippi's Second Congressional District where he has spent his entire life fighting to improve the lives of all people.

Congressman Bennie G. Thompson is the longest-serving African American elected official in the State of Mississippi and the lone Democrat in the Mississippi Congressional Delegation.

He began his grassroots political activism being a civil rights champion through the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) while a student at Tougaloo College – a private historically black college in Jackson, Mississippi. He organized voter registration drives for African Americans throughout the Mississippi Delta on behalf of the organization before graduating and following in the footsteps of his mother by becoming a schoolteacher. During his tenure educating the youth of Mississippi, a fire inside of Thompson was ignited pushing him to be a voice to the voiceless through elected office.

From 1969 to 1972, Thompson served as alderman of his hometown, Bolton, before serving as the city's mayor from 1973 to 1980. During his time as mayor, Thompson improved the city's infrastructure by paving roads, fixing the water and sewer systems, repairing and renovating dilapidated houses; all while spearheading the construction of city hall and re-evaluating the town's real estate.

Thompson was a founding member of the Mississippi Association of Black Mayors where he instituted policies and provided services benefiting Bolton's underserved. The selfless service Thompson provided his hometown was increased when he was elected as a Hinds County supervisor, a position he held from 1980 until 1993. The then-supervisor's record of being a pragmatic local servant was embraced by constituents in Mississippi's most populous county.

His record of effective problem solving, and coalition building served as the bedrock for his election to Congress in 1993, representing Mississippi's largest Congressional District composed of the state's capital city, Jackson, and the Mississippi Delta.

Congressman Thompson has channeled his passion for public service into action. In 2000, he authored legislation creating the National Center for Minority Health and Health Care Disparities which subsequently became law. After Hurricane Katrina ravaged the State of Mississippi, he aggressively advocated for disaster relief improvements within government agencies and provided oversight to ensure that federal funds were properly allocated for Gulf Coast recovery.

The following year, Thompson's Washington colleagues expressed their overwhelming confidence in his leadership abilities and selected him to serve as the first Democratic chairman of the House Homeland Security Committee. As chairman, Thompson introduced and engineered passage of the most comprehensive homeland security package since September 11, 2001 – H.R. 1, the "9/11 Commission Recommendations Act of 2007."

The Congressman has also served on the Agriculture, Budget, and Small Business Committees while working to level the playing field. Thompson employs a progressive and realistic approach to overcome persistent disparities while being the unabashed champion for civil rights, equal education, and healthcare delivery in Mississippi.

Representative Thompson is a lifelong member of the Asbury United Methodist Church in Bolton, Mississippi. He has been married to his college sweetheart, London Johnson of Mound Bayou, Mississippi, since 1968. The couple has a daughter, BendaLonne; granddaughter, Jeanna; and grandson, Thomas Gordon. Thompson is an avid outdoorsman and enjoys gardening, reading, and listening to the blues.

United States Congressman
Third District

MICHAEL GUEST

Congressman Michael Guest is serving his second term as the U.S. Representative for Mississippi's Third Congressional District. Congressman Guest is a lifelong conservative Republican who believes in limited government, traditional Mississippi values, free market economic principles of lower taxes and fewer regulations, the right to life of the unborn, a strong national defense with full support of our men and women in the military, and our Second Amendment gun rights and all the other individual liberties guaranteed to us by the Constitution. Congressman Guest quickly proved himself an effective legislator when he became the first Republican freshman House Member to pass a piece of legislation in the 116th Congress. The Terrorist and Foreign Fighter Travel Exercise Act of 2019, signed into law by President Trump, promotes the identification and determent of terrorist travel and enhances the United States government's ability to respond to terrorism. As a staunch advocate for American border security, Congressman Guest introduced the Operation Stonegarden

Authorization Act, which would support state law enforcement tasked with protecting the nation's borders.

While taking an America-first approach to his service, Congressman Guest has focused on defending conservative principles and ideals from progressive activism. Congressman Guest has stood firm against the #DefundThePolice Movement, pro-abortion groups, Socialist policies, and other progressive agenda items. Congressman Guest has been recognized by the Susan B. Anthony List and the Family Research Council for his pro-life stance, the National Rifle Association for his strong defense of our Second Amendment rights, and the National Federation of Independent Businesses for his support of pro-growth policies.

As a member of the Committee on Homeland Security, Congressman Guest works to protect our nation from foreign threats. Congressman Guest is committed to securing our country's southwest border to help curb the flow of illegal drugs into our communities, and he will be able to lead on this issue as a member of the Committee on Homeland Security's Subcommittee on Border Security, Facilitation, and Operations. He is also a member of the Subcommittee on Intelligence and Counterterrorism.

Additionally, Congressman Guest serves on the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure (T&I) where he takes an active role in promoting trade, economic growth, and broadband expansion across Mississippi. As a representative of a state that borders the Gulf of Mexico, the Mississippi River, and Tennessee River/Tennessee Tombigbee Waterway, with countless other rivers and streams, has three major interstates crossing it, and terminates multiple large rail lines, Congressman Guest can serve Mississippi well through his membership on the Committee. He also serves on two of T&I's most influential subcommittees: the Subcommittee on Economic Development, Public Buildings, and Emergency Management and the Subcommittee on Highways and Transit.

Congressman Guest was appointed by House Republican Leader Kevin McCarthy to serve a second term on the House Committee on Ethics, which is the panel responsible for ensuring the integrity of the institution of the House of Representatives.

Congressman Guest is a Rankin County resident and a graduate of Brandon High School. He and his family are members of Brandon Baptist Church, where Congressman Guest serves as a Sunday school teacher for young men in high school. He received a degree in accounting from Mississippi State University and his law degree from the University of Mississippi.

United States Congressman
Fourth District

STEVEN PALAZZO

Congressman Steven M. Palazzo is proud to serve the people of South Mississippi's Fourth Congressional District, which includes Mississippi's Gulf Coast and Pine Belt regions. As a U.S. Marine Corps veteran, current member of the Mississippi National Guard, and former member of the Mississippi House of Representatives, Congressman Palazzo has a record of service that began long before he was first sworn into the U.S. House of Representatives on January 5, 2011.

A Gulf Coast native, Steven was born and raised in Gulfport, Mississippi. After graduating high school, he followed his grandfathers' footsteps and enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserve. During this time, he served overseas in the Persian Gulf War. Steven graduated from the University of Southern Mississippi in 1994 with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration and in 1996 with a Master of Public Accountancy. In 1997, he became a Certified Public Accountant. After graduation, Steven worked offshore in the Gulf of Mexico on a deep-water drill ship. He also worked as a defense contractor in support of Operation Joint Forge in the Balkans and in Uzbekistan in support of Operation Enduring Freedom. Later, Steven owned and operated Palazzo & Company, CPA a full-service accounting firm specializing in expat tax services with clients in over 25 foreign countries.

Steven currently serves on the House Appropriations Committee, where he sits on two Subcommittees: the Commerce, Justice, Science Subcommittee, and the Homeland Security Subcommittee. His committee is responsible for allocating every dollar of federal discretionary spending. His subcommittee memberships allow him to advocate for funds to be allocated toward improving American security and ensuring efficient use of taxpayers' dollars.

Since his first term, Steven has served on the Majority Whip team. He also spent five years as the chairman of the Space Subcommittee, overseeing the country's space program and ensuring America's continued access to space. He remains a strong supporter of space exploration, promoting the district's Stennis Space Center and serving as co-chair of the House Aerospace Caucus. He has been able to combine his previous experiences as an expatriate and CPA by serving as current Chairman of the Congressional Expatriate Caucus, advocating for Americans living and working overseas.

Before being selected for the Appropriations Committee, Congressman Palazzo also sat on the House Armed Services and Homeland Security Committees. His military experience provided the opportunity for Steven to lead as chairman on the House National Guard Caucus and serve on the Naval Academy Board of Visitors. In 2014, Steven received the Sonny Montgomery Eagle award for his outstanding service to the National Guard.

In these roles, he has been a consistent advocate for a strong national defense, a leader on veterans' issues, and a champion for bringing fiscal common-sense back to Washington by supporting balanced budgets, pro-growth policies, and parity legislation. Congressman Palazzo believes in smart federal investment while cutting the true drivers of our national debt: mandatory spending.

He is an active member of the conservative Republican Study Committee, where he joins other like-minded House members to promote conservative legislation. He is also an active member of the Values Action Team, a group dedicated to advancing policy that promotes traditional values and amplifying the voices of like-minded citizens.

During his off-time, Steven enjoys fishing, hunting, shooting, reading, and spending time with his three children: Barrett, Aubrey, and Bennett.

Mississippi became a territory of the United States in 1798. On December 10, 1817, Mississippi became the twentieth state admitted to the Union. Counties organized prior to statehood and their organization dates are: Adams (1798), Amite (1809), Claiborne (1802), Franklin (1809), Greene (1811), Hancock (1817), Jackson (1812), Jefferson (1799 as Pickering; renamed "Jefferson" in 1802), Lawrence (1814), Marion (1811), Pike (1815), Warren (1809), Washington (1800), Wayne (1809), and Wilkinson (1802). The last county formed was Humphreys County in 1918.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT

Municipal government, as outlined in Miss. Code Ann. Title 21 et seq., may be structured under different types of municipal government.

MUNICIPALITIES

Mississippi law classifies municipal corporations, commonly referred to as municipalities, according to population size. Municipalities with populations of 2,000 inhabitants or more are classified as cities and those municipalities having less than 2,000 and not less than 300 inhabitants are classed as towns. Municipalities with less than 300 inhabitants and not less than 100 inhabitants are considered villages. While there is no existing authority which permits the creation of a new village, the State continues to recognize existing villages. The classification of municipalities is dictated by the results of each decennial U.S. Census.

Mississippi's most recent municipality is the city of Gluckstadt in Madison County. It was incorporated on May 28, 2021. Natchez is the State's oldest municipality and was incorporated on March 10, 1803.

Unincorporated areas may incorporate to become a municipality by filing a petition signed by two-thirds of the qualified voters who reside in the proposed municipality in the chancery court of the county in which the area is located. The petition must describe the boundaries of the municipality, designate a corporate name, identify the number of inhabitants, calculate the assessed value of real property within the area according to the latest assessments, state the reasons for incorporation, identify the services to be offered, and provide a list of interim municipal officials. If the chancery court grants the incorporation, a decree is entered and such decree, if not appealed, becomes effective ten (10) days after it is entered.

The major function of municipal government is to provide services for its citizens such as maintaining roads and bridges, providing law enforcement and fire protection, and furnishing health and sanitation services.

In Mississippi, state law establishes different types of municipal governments, as described in Miss. Code Ann. Title 21 et seq. (1972). In current practice, municipalities in the state are operating under one of the forms of municipal government listed below.

Private Charter form – Municipalities operating under a private charter (also referred to as a special charter) were formed prior to the Mississippi Constitution of 1890 and have elected to retain their private charter. The source of the municipality's power to act is generated from the private charter.

Code Charter form – The code charter form of government is commonly referred to as the mayor-aldermen form (also known as the weak mayor form) and has been adopted by approximately 95% of the municipalities in the state. Voters elect a mayor and a board of aldermen, which varies from three, five, or seven members depending on the population of the municipality. The mayor holds supervisory authority over the municipal officers and municipal affairs and is charged with enforcing the municipal laws and ordinances. The mayor must be a qualified elector of the municipality and is elected at-large. The board of aldermen holds the power to make motions and votes on municipal ordinances, orders, and resolutions. Members of the board of aldermen must be qualified electors and are elected at large, by ward, or a combination of ward and at-large.

Mayor-council form – The mayor-council form of government is commonly referred to as the strong mayor form. Voters elect a mayor and a city council, which is comprised of five, seven, or nine members. The mayor has the power to hire and fire municipal employees and is charged with enforcing the municipal laws and ordinances. The mayor must be a qualified elector of the municipality and is elected at-large. The city council exercises legislative functions in the municipality and its members are elected either by ward or by some combination of ward or at-large voting.

Council-manager form – The council-manager form of government does not provide a separation of executive and legislative powers between a mayor and the city council. Voters elect the members of the city council, which consists of a mayor and five councilmen. The city council exercises the legislative power of the municipality and hires a city manager, who is the chief administrative officer of the municipality. While the council is the policy-making body for the municipality, the city manager handles the day-to-day operations, including the hiring/firing of city employees, budget preparation, and fiscal management. The mayor and councilmen must be qualified electors of the municipality. The mayor is elected at-large and councilmen are elected at-large or one councilman at-large and the others by ward.

Commission form – The commission form combines the executive and legislative powers of the municipality. Voters elect a mayor and at least two commissioners. The mayor and each commissioner must be a qualified elector and a bona fide resident of the municipality for at least one year. By statute, the commissioners are to be elected at-large, but in practice in municipalities operating under the commission form, the mayor is elected at-large and commissioners are elected by ward. The commission acts as one body and is authorized to perform all the corporate powers, duties, and obligations of the municipality.

Council form – The council form of government combines the executive and legislative powers of the municipality. Voters elect a mayor and six members of the council. The mayor and councilmen must be qualified electors of the municipality. The mayor is elected at-large and the remaining councilmen are elected from each ward into which the municipality is divided. If there are less than six wards, the remaining councilmen are elected at-large. Only one municipality in this state meets the population requirements for adoption of the council form of government.
